'Redi-Wheels' In Mid-March

A new door-to-door transit service for mobility impaired persons unable to use regular SamTrans buses will go into operation in the North County in mid-March.

Redi-Wheels, a pilot program launched by the San Mateo County Transit District, will provide trips for medical appointments, work, social service, shopping, education and recreation to residents of the target areas who have been professionally certified as "mobility impaired."

DAVE Systems, Inc., a subsidiary of Community Transit Services, Inc. of San Francisco, is the contractor for Redi-Wheels and will operate the service with SamTrans buses that have been equipped with wheelchair lifts.

Redi-Wheels will operate Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Passengers certified for Redi-Wheels service will be able to reserve a ride with a telephone call, one day in advance — before 3 p.m.

Eligibility guidelines and application forms can be obtained at city halls in Daly City, Brisbane, South San Francisco, San Bruno and Pacifica and Burlingame.

Further information may be obtained from SamTrans' Telephone Information Center, North County: 871-2200 and Central County: 348-8858.

Target areas for Redi-Wheels service include all of Daly City and parts of Brisbane, South San Francisco, San Bruno and Pacifica.

Brisbane service area includes all of Brisbane west of U.S. 101.

South San Francisco service area includes neighborhoods west of U.S. 101 and north of Westborough Boulevard.

Pacifica Blaze Probed

Fire ripped through a Pacifica building that houses a treatment center for alcoholics Sunday afternoon, causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

Fire Capt. Floyd Hack said fire officials today are investigating the cause of the blaze that broke out at 4:22 p.m. at 100 Santa Rosa Ave.

Pyramid Alternatives, a non-profit agency that assists North County alcoholics, is located on the second floor of the building.

On the ground floor is a furniture refinishing studio owned by Mrs. John Hughes of Pacifica and a carport, Hack said.

In fact, Hack said, when firefighters arrived at the scene, all but the southwest corner of the two-story building was in flames.

Firefighters took the flames for about 45 minutes, Hack said.

DC General Plan Hearing

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A mishmash of suggested policies to be incorporated into Daly City's General Plan will be presented to the Citizens Advisory Committee for review Feb. 24. The suggestions come from the General Plan's

Once these suggestions are melted into the overall General Plan, it will go to the Planning Commission, then to the City Council for approval.

How long this will take is anybody's guess, according to a City Hall spokesman this week.

Meanwhile, the workshops have proved "very fruitful" in getting input for the plan, a city official pointed out.

Earlier reports stemming from these workshops held periodically to discuss what is good for Daly City and what is not good for the community, revealed an attitude of "having one's cake and eating it."

That is, citizens asked for a tighter budget, while at the same time suggesting more programs be introduced in the city — programs for recreation, new housing, more public facilities, etc.

This has been modified, the latest workshop policy report indicates.

There are now 19 pages of suggestions in categories which include economics, land use, community facilities, traffic circulation, safety, redevelopment, community design, health and mental health, special populations, manpower and employment, housing, seismic safety, noise, conservation, open space, recreation and scenic highways.

recreation and scenic highways.

The part of the report dealing with scenic highways suggested that as a part of redevelopment for Mission Street, the business corridor be designated a scenic highway and a plan developed to promote this feature. And that scenic corridors to the city's recreational, historical and culturally important areas should be initiated is proposed.

Daly City also should be responsive to annexation of unincorporated areas, the report stated.

Similar policies in the past have sparked verbal

County's Elected Officials Unite

A 13-member executive committee has been named to guide the Congress of Elected Officials, an organization representing the county's 90 separate taxing agencies.

The Congress was organized by County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald to provide a forum for the discussion and solution of common problems confronting the various governmental entities in the county.

Its specific goals are to promote efficiency in government through the voluntary cooperation of all elected officials, administrators and their staffs; to stabilize the cost of government while maintaining and improving services, by the implementation of cooperative economy programs; and to study and present united local governments' recommendations to state legislators, Congress and regional jurisdictions.

At its meeting in San Mateo, the executive committee decided to establish a technical advisory committee of county, schools, cities and special districts administrators to begin a dialogue on the definition and sharing of areas of expertise which could lead to the common reduction of costs and the improvement of governmental services in the county.

The committee also accepted the offer of Howard Oliphant, president of the Governmental Research Council, for the GRC to provide administrative assistance to the organization.

Fitzgerald was elected chairman, with Dr. William Jordan, a member of the Sequoia Union High School District Board of Trustees, elected vice-chairman, and Ed Morey, a member of the Belmont County Water District Board of Directors, elected secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the executive committee are John M. Ward, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors; Anthony Giammona, mayor of Daly City; John Barnard, mayor of San Bruno; Reynolds Smith, mayor of Atherton; Jane Bengtsson, a member of the Cabrillo Unified School District Board of Trustees; Thomas Henkle, a member of the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees.

Also, Dorothy Skanderup, a member of the San Carlos Elementary School District Board of Trustees; James Tormey Jr., a member of the San Mateo Community College District Board of Trustees; J. Russell Kent, county superintendent of schools; and John Robinson, a member of the Point Montara Fire Protection District Board of Directors.

The executive committee decided that it also will ask a state and a federal legislator from the county to serve on the committee.

Per Capita Spending Report

Lowest Costs in Pacifica

The coastside city of Pacifica had the lowest government costs per capita of any of the nine San Mateo County cities studied in a recent survey covering fiscal year 1974-75.

A team from the California Polytechnic State University did a "Comparative Cities Finance Project" study of nine major cities in the county and came up with these figures:

Pacifica, while giving its 39,000 residents the lowest government costs, also is near the bottom of the list when it comes to receiving funds from various sources, such as government agencies and property and sales taxes.

Daly City, almost twice the size of Pacifica, is only a shade more costly when it comes to paying for government services by residents — at $139.10 per capita.

Daly City (population 71,400) receives far less from all sources of revenues to pay for these services, the study reveals.

The highest spender of those cities surveyed was Burlingame, which spent $295.68 for government services to its citizens.

At the same time, Burlingame received $300.03 per capita in revenues — the highest of any city surveyed.

The nine cities included in the report were Pacifica, Daly City, Burlingame, Menlo Park, Redwood City, San Bruno, San Carlos, San Mateo and South San Francisco.

The county's largest city, San Mateo, received $211.48 in per capita revenues while spending $205.30 for its residents in various services, including police and fire protection.

Paramedics on Probation

Four of South San Francisco's 11 paramedics, including a captain, have been placed on probation by the San Mateo County Health Department after failing to pass a recertification examination.

Two of them, Fire Chief William Toelner said, will not be allowed to ride as paramedics until they pass the exams.

New tests have been scheduled for late March for all four.

"We have no concern whatsoever as far as their eventual recertification," Toelner said.

"It's not a big thing as far as we're concerned," he added.

South San Francisco's firefighter-paramedic crew — the only one like it in the county — will be two years old at the end of March. Paramedics are licensed by the county for two years and each must pass a test to renew that license.

Jim Powers, the county's emergency medical services evaluation coordinator, said tests were given last month to South San Francisco's paramedics and all of the paramedics employed by Medevac, the firm recently contracted by the county.

Medevac personnel previously were certified in other counties, but had to be recertified to work here, Powers said.

Of the 44 Medevac personnel, six did not qualify for certification in San Mateo County.

Of the remainder, 13 were placed on probation. Some of those, Powers said, are required to take the test again and others are asked to obtain additional field or clinical experience.

Twenty-five Medevac personnel received full certification, Powers said.

The tests were held at Stanford University. Powers said one reason four South San Francisco paramedics didn't pass the test might be that their experience is in a limited geographic area.

South San Francisco taxpayers have continued to support their exclusive firefighter-paramedic crew, even though they also are paying for the county's program through their county property tax rate.

"We hope that with the implementation of the countywide paramedics, there will be increased educational opportunities," Powers said.

South San Francisco paramedics will be able to participate in training sessions, clinics and seminars with Medevac personnel, he added.

Toelner said the temporary loss of two paramedics will cause a problem only when illness and vacations put the department below its daily minimum staffing level.

Then, he said, extra fire fighters will have to be called in on overtime to keep two paramedics on the van at all times.

Long Hunt Ends For SSF Suspect

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Benjamin George Pavan, a South San Francisco businessman who made the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted" list only last month, was arrested in Seattle, Wash. shortly before 8 a.m. Thursday.

Pavan surrendered to FBI agents without incident.

The fugitive was alone and unarmed when the FBI apprehended him inside a room at the Hyatt House Hotel in South Seattle at 7:50 a.m., San Francisco FBI agent Frank Perrone said following the arrest.

Perrone said that Pavan, reportedly usually armed with a sawed-off shotgun carried in an attache case, offered no resistance to police.

He was last seen in South San Francisco, sometime in December, accompanied by a pretty woman.

Asked what led the FBI to Pavan's hotel room in Seattle, Perrone said, "We had information leading up to that (Seattle) area and we continued to work it up."

Pavan is wanted by San Mateo County authorities on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

He fled while awaiting trial in connection with the armed robbery of a couple of local bars, safecracking at two other establishments, and possession of stolen property.

Arraigned Thursday before a federal judge in Seattle, Pavan was jailed in King County in lieu of $500,000 bail.

Plan

conflicts with neighboring Colma and Broadmoor.

But the makers of the report believe the city should "be alert to the possibility of annexation and/or development of San Bruno Mountain and protect the city against adverse impacts."

Much of the report, at least on the surface, appears superfluous.

For example, under "Community Facilities," the report restates that "existing cemeteries are important to the history and character of Daly City and should be continued indefinitely."

There are four small cemeteries in Daly City.

The remaining burial grounds are in Colma, outside the jurisdiction of Daly City.

The suggestion that the reclaimed wastewater treatment plant now being built in Daly City at a cost exceeding $14 millions — be brought under city control is likely to spark much opposition, an official of that district predicts.

The North San Mateo County Sanitation District, which is responsible for all wastewater collection, treatment and discharge in the city, has two city officials on its three-member Board of Directors.

Another policy recommendation certain to touch off controversy at the state level, if it is officially accepted, is that the Cow Place — a state agricultural exhibition district — be made to reimburse Daly City for services rendered in the form of either removal of the prohibition against an admissions tax, or provision for payments in lieu of such taxes.

A number of profitable events, such as roller derbies and wrestling, are held at the Cow Place and are not "agricultural-oriented," shows, explain proponents of the measure.

Citizens, the report admitted, would like the city to buy the Serra Theater on Junipero Serra Boulevard and turn it into a community theater.

The city already owns two lots adjacent to the theater, and the entire block could be developed into a community facility, it was explained.

City Manager David

Rowe in the past has expressed interest in such a plan.

In those neighborhoods lacking public libraries, school libraries should be opened for public use, the report suggested.

Traffic circulation, BART, SamTrans and public transportation in general was widely discussed and at least 40 suggestions, ranging from discouraging construction of a second BART station in Daly City to providing safe pedestrian crosswalks across Skyline Boulevard and John Daly Drive near BART.

The recommendation that BART not build a second station in Daly City, as a means toward relieving traffic congestion around the terminus station on John Daly Ave. and Junipero Serra Boulevard, is a complete turnaround from an earlier working report.

In the earlier report, citizens suggested the city "promote development of a second BART station in the Planning Area."

As an apparent restatement of battles fought long ago between citizens and the City Council over redevelopment of residential tracts, the report again points out, "No area shall be designated a redevelopment area unless residents and property owners of the area agree to the designation."

In all, there are 157 suggestions contained in the report.

They are expected to be discussed in detail at the Committee meeting scheduled 7:30 p.m. at the City Center, 312 90th St., Daly City.

The firefighters, he said, were puzzled by the intense heat at the burning building. It is believed that furniture and office supplies were the primary contents of the burning structure.

Fire inspector Mike Johnson said it will be at least a week before the cause of the fire is determined. Most of the contents of the wooden structure were burned, he said.

Pavan

Pavan — the FBI or South San Francisco — is expected to develop.

The FBI says they want to question Pavan in connection with some bank robberies pulled in recent months around the western states.

South San Francisco Det. Jack Rhodes has "wanted Pavan so bad I dream about him" since he skipped out of town forfeiting some $50,000 in bail money posted by a relative.

Rhodes has compiled a file on Pavan that now bulges at the seams.

The South San Francisco businessman who moved from pushing a few bad checks to the FBI's "Most Wanted" list, is credited with having "guts" when it comes to dealing with the law.

Once, Rhodes recalls, about four years ago, Pavan allegedly held up a North San Mateo County restaurant which he frequented.

Costs

was the highest paid for any government services.

In Daly City, this cost was $28.05 per capita, while the fire cost was $21.82.

Burlingame topped the list with a cost-per-person for police protection of $44.87. Fire services in Burlingame were $36.90.

Other cities' costs for public safety were: Menlo Park $34.61 for police (this city receives fire services from the Menlo Park Fire District); Pacifica, $27.30 for police and $17.39 fire; Redwood City, $35 for police and $31.97 fire; San Bruno, $30.35 for police and $16.38 for fire.

Also, San Carlos, $31.89 for police and $24.67 for fire; San Mateo, $36.38 for police and $24.13 for fire;

After fleeing from the New Southern Restaurant on El Camino Real with an undetermined amount of cash, Pavan returned a couple of hours later and sat at the bar.

When police began interrogating witnesses, Pavan sidled up and asked "What's going on?"

When informed the place had been held up, Pavan offered to help describe the suspect.

He actually drew a word picture of himself for police, Rhodes said.

Some of the items Rhodes wants to discuss with Pavan on his return to the area include:

Two burglaries at the Green Hills Country Club in Millbrae on May 1972 and September 1973; armed robbery of the Gondolier Bar, May 1972; armed robbery of Welte's Bar on Sept. 21, 1972; Dot & Andy's Bar on Aug. 5, 1972; and a return performance of the holdup 10 days later, on Aug. 15, 1972 at Dot & Andy's Bar.

Peeling safes, a trade Pavan supposedly learned in San Quentin, was also his trademark, police claim.

Such peeling jobs were done on safes at Mano's Room on June 17, 1972; Sills Smoke Shop, June 19, 1972; Townhouse Bar, Sept. 11, 1972; and a few other stores and offices in the Bay Area.

"Bennie," as his acquaintances called him, decided not to wait for trial on numerous felony charges. He jumped $50,000 bail on April 4, 1974, leaving behind a wife, two young sons and a mother.

The mother, Maria Baz-zuri, of San Bruno, had put up real estate holdings to raise money for her son's release. She reportedly lost everything.

Pavan's wife, Janice, has been forced to work and raise her sons alone.

Dorothy DeBolt will appear as the Guest of the Daly City Friends of the Library tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Serramonte Branch of the Daly City library.

Mrs. DeBolt whose remarkable dedication to handicapped children has led to the addition of 13 handicapped youngsters to the DeBolts natural family of six children, is co-founder, with her husband, of the Aid to Adoption of Special Kids, a national, non-profit, publicly supported agency.

Her story and that of the entire DeBolt family is the subject of Joseph P. Blank's book, Nineteen Steps up the Mountain.

Members and guests are invited to attend this meeting and hear the DeBolt Family story, first hand.

TABLES, LOADED with goodies are all ready for the Westlake Catholic Women's Rummage Sale to be held this Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Michael Carman, chairperson of the sale reports that the doors of the parish hall will be open on both days from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds from the sale are used to finance preparations for the parish's huge festival held the first of May.

THE BAR WILL open and cocktails will be available at 7 p.m. on Saturday evening when the members of the Hillside Homeowners Improvement Association gather in the Italian American Social Club on Russia Street in San Francisco for the group's twenty-first installation of officers.

Dinner, to be followed by dancing, will be served at 8 p.m. Tickets, costing $15 per person are being sold by ticket chairman Mrs. Frank J. Loretta.

Those ladies who work so hard to make your stay at Mary's Help Hospital pleasant and uncomplicated are declaring a day of rest and relaxation for themselves, according to Mrs. Virginia Stanghellini, guild president.

The occasion will be a Reno trip to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday. For more information, call Mrs. Stanghellini.

March 1 Shirley Dennett will attend the regular monthly meeting of the Daly City Garden Club and present some tips on caring for ferns.

According to Mrs. Carol Alba, the publicity chairman, the speaker is a graduate of the Department of Horticulture at the University of California at Berkeley and is the proprietor of the "Growing Habit," on Mission St. in Daly City.

The club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Coral Room of the Daly City War Memorial Community Center, 144 Hillside Blvd.

Also on the agenda submitted by Mrs. Alba is a miniature and an artistic show. Interested community members, as well as Garden Club members, are invited to submit entries into the show.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of North San Mateo County is holding its second annual Rummage sale on March 12-13 in the OICW Training Center on Grand Avenue in South San Francisco.

According to Mrs. Troy Daniels, hours for the sale will be 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Saturday and from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to further the services and programs of the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County.

Donations of items, new or used, will be accepted if you will call Mrs. Don Fleming of Daly City or Mrs. George Avanesian of South San Francisco.

Good morning, good cooks. Today let us consider a variety of dishes — an attractive and tasty apple salad, a cheese ball that's easy to make and delightful to serve, and lastly some bar cookies that are topped with a combination most of us love, chocolate and nuts.

APPLE-SOUR CREAM SALAD

- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 Tablespoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash celery salt
- Dash dry mustard
- 2 cups diced, unpeeled red apples
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/2 cup seeded and quartered grapes
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Combine the fourth cup sour cream with the table-spoon lemon juice, one-half tablespoon sugar, fourth teaspoon salt and celery salt and mustard. Beat with electric mixer until mixture almost holds its shape. (To prevent darkening, dice apples directly into sour cream mixture.) Add half cup diced celery, half cup grapes and fourth cup walnuts. Serve on lettuce.

This cheese ball is a delight. A good friend and good cook, sent it to me to enjoy during Christmas. I enjoyed it greatly, but couldn't find time to get it in the paper. Ah well, this is the type of treat you will use at any party, not just the Holidays.

RENA'S HOLIDAY CHEESE BALL

- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 4 ounces Roquefort cheese
- 5 ounces Wispride Cheddar, sharp
- 1 Tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 Tablespoon grated onion
- pinch of salt

Blend together the eight ounces cream cheese, four ounces Roquefort cheese, five ounces cheddar cheese, one tablespoon each Worcestershire sauce and grated onion and pinch of salt. Shape into a ball. Wrap in waxed paper and store in refrigerator overnight. Roll in chopped parsley and nuts. Serve with crackers.

CHOCOLATE TOPPED OATMEAL BARS

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup white sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 cup rolled oats

Cream the one cup butter with the half cup each brown and white sugar. Beat in the two egg yolks. Add the cup each flour and rolled oats. Mix well. Spread in greased and floured 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350-degrees for 20 minutes. Cool for 10 minutes.

Melt a large 6 1/2 ounces milk chocolate bar with 2 tablespoons butter. Spread over cooled cookie layer. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup chopped nuts. Cut into squares.

Violates Code, Councilman Says

San Bruno Councilman Gary Mondfrans announced last week that he would file charges of elections code violations against the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce for alleged misuse of public funds in connection with the chamber's stand on Proposition H, The Place apartment issue.

Mondfrans said he would file the charges with the District Attorney's Office and with the Fair Political Practices Commission early next week.

The councilman also said he would ask City Atty. Joseph Galligan to determine if the chamber's use of city funds to print and distribute partisan material bearing on an election is illegal.

The California Supreme Court ruled last year, Mondfrans said, that in the absence of clear and explicit legislation, a public agency may not spend public funds to promote partisan issues in an election campaign.

Since the chamber received $14,762 in city funds this fiscal year to help underwrite its promotional activities, Mondfrans claims it is improper for it to pay for the printing and distribution of a statement calling for more apartments in the city and specifically mentioning Prop. H.

San Bruno voters will determine through the ballot box March 8 if a seven-acre parcel at the corner of Sneath Lane and Cherry Avenue should be rezoned to allow for the construction of 176 new apartment units.

The chamber last week distributed its annual business directory and attached to it a statement dealing with a claimed need for more rental housing.

The statement reads: "The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce is convinced that some multi-family residential growth is necessary in the community and that it will be beneficial to San Bruno."

It stated that more rental housing is needed for some 4,700 new jobholders who, the chamber claimed, will be employed at new office buildings in the city by 1980.

"There are currently more than 100 empty acres zoned for office and administrative buildings besides the 6.96 acres which will appear on the March election ballot as Proposition H," the statement continues.

Mondfrans said, "The chamber acts as the public relations arm of this city and receives public funds to do its job. I think it is improper for it to spend city money on advocating an issue that will appear on the ballot."

the chamber, admitted this week that the chamber has spent "no more than $100" on the statement included in the business directory.

He emphasized that it wasn't city money but merchants' money that was used.

Costa argued that most of the chamber money is generated by dues from merchants, and activities, and that the city contributes only a small percentage.

"This chamber has been gradually reducing the amount of money it asks for from the city each year. We want to eventually become independent," Costa said.

He said a chamber survey taken recently indicated that the overwhelming percentage of merchants want the chamber of commerce to become directly involved in political issues in the city that may bear on the business community.

Thus, the board of directors has determined that it will support "growth in the city," he added.

"The Place just happens to be the issue at the moment," he said. "It is a part of our decision to urge more growth in San Bruno."

and other commerce in the city, we must also make available housing for some of the new employees.

"It is our (chamber) responsibility, too, to make housing available to San Bruno young people forming families who cannot afford to buy an averaged price house at $55,000," the statement read.

'No Surprises' in SSF City Audit Despite Claim

Finance Director Bill Anderson said there are no surprises in the South San Francisco audit released last week, even though a councilman had repeatedly suggested there would be.

"It's an accurate representation of the city's finances," Anderson said. He said the findings of the auditing firm, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., are in line with the city's records.

The audit covers the 1975-76 fiscal year. Anderson said the auditor soon will be releasing a management letter which includes comments and recommendations.

The city's routine annual audit evolved into a controversy last year when Councilman William Borba recommended that the council undertake an "in-depth audit."

The council then argued for months over the value of abandoning its auditor of nearly 20 years, Gus Chagaris of South San Francisco.

The councilmen repeatedly asked Borba why he was insisting on a more detailed audit than usual.

Borba refused to give any specific reason for demanding a new auditor and a more complex audit.

"I'll give an inkling of what I'm looking for, but I won't go into it in public," Borba declared in June.

After several months of discussion and two different surveys of possible auditors, the council chose a new auditor for $9,000.

The city's annual audit in previous years had cost $10,000.

"It's a fresh viewpoint," Anderson said this week. "It's always valuable to have a new viewpoint."

Anderson said there is one major change in the city's accounting procedures as a result of the audit. The city's sewer, marina and parking funds now will be listed as "enterprise" accounts clearly showing the accurate profits or losses for each.

Members of the United Taxpayers Association in recent months have questioned the financial status of the city's Oyster Point Marina in particular. While they indicated that the city's records showed the marina operating at a great loss, city staff members explained the appearance of a loss was due to the accounting method.

Before the auditor's report was even released Wednesday evening, the City Council disagreed over audit procedures.

Councilman Dick Battaglia, who had voted against hiring a new auditor, asked for a public report of how much staff time was utilized to compile the new audit.

Battaglia stated that the agreement with the auditor called for use of city staff and that the $9,000 contract was not a true reflection of the audit costs.

"I think we're spending city money here and the public has a right to find out," Battaglia said. If staff members spent many hours assisting the new auditor, the process actually cost more than $9,000, he said.

Battaglia said he believed all along that $9,000 was an erroneous figure.

However, Mayor Leo Padreddi claimed that Battaglia had no right to ask the staff for a report of the time they spent on the audit. The council's consensus is needed to make that request, he claimed.

"You were against the audit to begin with and now you are trying to make it look like an improper audit," Padreddi said. He asserted that Battaglia is trying to show there was a waste of taxpayer's money just to prove a point.

A report of staff time was a reasonable request, Battaglia responded.

"It looks like you're trying to shovel something under the carpet here," Battaglia said.

San Bruno Commissions

The City of San Bruno is seeking members to serve on four city commissions: the Personnel Board, the Traffic and Safety Commission, the Environmental Committee and the Economy and Efficiency Task Force.

City Clerk Terri Rasmussen urges interested persons to contact her for an application.

The City Council is to interview applicants for the commissions March 7 at City Hall.

Assessed Values Likely to Jump 'Substantially'

San Mateo County home-owners whose property is being reappraised this year should anticipate a "substantial increase" in their assessed values. County Assessor Jack Estes re-emphasizes.

Estes is standing by his prophecy of several months ago that assessed values will take a big jump because of rapidly increasing property values and the one-year moratorium on residential property reappraisals.

The assessor said today that notices reflecting the new values will be mailed to homeowners in April and May.

Estes noted that increased property values need not necessarily mean increased tax bills.

"If local taxing agencies hold the line and agency budgets remain at the same amount, then the tax rate per $100 of assessed valuation could even be reduced," he said.

Full scale reappraisals of residential properties have been made in Brisbane, Daly City, Pacifica, San Mateo, Hillsborough, Menlo Park, East Palo Alto, Woodside and Portola Valley.

In addition, there have been interim adjustments in other areas based on statistical trends, Estes reported.

Also, his office has reappraised this year commercial and industrial property which was not reappraised in the past two years, and all apartment developments, with the exception of those in San Mateo, where apartments were reappraised last year.

Assessed valuations are calculated at one-fourth of the estimated full value of the property, with value being derived from analysis of house sales in the reappraised area.

Harbor Panel to Rotate Meetings

The San Mateo County Board of Harbor Commissioners voted at its regular meeting Wednesday night to rotate the board's meeting places among the county's cities, effective March 16.

According to General Manager Ron McClellan, the move was undertaken in order to gather additional citizen input in cities with which the district is working for improvement of harbor and marina facilities.

Although a schedule of meeting places has not yet been formalized, cities tentatively set for meetings in the near future are Pacifica, Foster City and South San Francisco, McClellan said.

The district has signed a joint powers agreement with the City of Foster City to develop a marina in that community, and has reached agreement with the City of South San Francisco on a loan to provide launch facilities at Oyster Point Marina.

The district hopes to work out an agreement with the federal government which would name the district the lead agency for the future development of marina facilities in Pacifica, a spokesman noted.

A meeting was held last week with Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, as a first step in securing that agreement.

Attending the meeting at Ryan's office were Pacifica Mayor Janice Fulford, Councilman Nick Gust, McClellan and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers executive Col. H.A. Flertheim.

The March 2 meeting of the harbor commission will be held in its present meeting place, the Half Moon Bay Library community room.

Help is Wanted

Library aides, a beautician and friendly visitors head the list of volunteers needed to fill jobs listed with the Volunteer Bureau, Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

McKINLEY SCHOOL — Assistants to help card books in the library. Time is flexible and may be arranged with the school.

SENIOR ADULT DAY CARE CENTER — Beautician to volunteer her time; all supplies will be provided. Volunteers to help serve lunch and share a special skill or talent in the afternoons.

FRIENDLY VISITING SERVICE — Persons to serve as friendly visitors to lonely individuals confined in their homes or in convalescent hospitals or boarding homes. Time is flexible and help is needed throughout the county. Men, women and couples are welcome.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD — New volunteers to assist with all aspects of the clinic including receptionists, public speakers and clerical and library assistants. Orientation and training session for new volunteers will be given the morning of March 1.

AMERICAN RED CROSS — Aides to assist with the language bank, nursing office, accounting and bookkeeping, switchboard, public relations, vital English program and safety office.

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND CRISIS CENTER — Persons to staff the 24-hour crisis line. An interview is required prior to training which has been set up for five consecutive Saturdays starting March 5.

The Volunteer Bureau, which is located at 119 Primrose Road in Burlingame, may be contacted for additional details about these and other volunteer jobs. Open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, the Bureau is a project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County. It shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded, in part, by the County of San Mateo.

Workshop On Airport

Officials from San Mateo County and San Francisco will join together for an all-day workshop at College of San Mateo on Saturday, Feb. 26, to discuss the San Francisco International Airport and transportation and water as they affect both counties.

Citizens are invited to participate in the seminar, entitled, "Interaction: San Francisco and San Mateo Counties Look at Three Shared Resources."

The program will begin at 9 a.m. in the Little Theater of the college, according to James R. Hardt, director of community relations at the college. The department is sponsoring the program jointly with the San Francisco and San Mateo County Councils of the League of Women Voters.

Among the participants will be Congressman Paul N. McCloskey Jr., Assemblymen Willie L. Brown Jr. of San Francisco and Dixon Arnett of San Mateo County; Quentin Kopp, president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors; and Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. of San Mateo County.

Technical backgrounds will be given by Rai Y. Okamoto, San Francisco director of planning; Kenneth R. Boyd, acting general manager of the San Francisco Water Department; Richard Sklar, project coordinator of wastewater management for San Francisco; Robert R. Eppler, senior civil engineer of the San Mateo County Department of Public Works; and Donald A. Woolfe, San Mateo County director of planning.

Participating in a panel discussion will be S.H. Cantwell Jr., San Mateo County director of public works; William Evers, president of the San Francisco Planning and Urban Renewal Association; John T. Mauro, director of the San Mateo County Transit District; and William E. McDonnell, president of the San Francisco Airports Commission.

A panel of members of the sponsoring Leagues of Women Voters will prepare questions for the panel. League members on the panel will be Marian Daughtry, Marion Softky, Ann Benner, Janice Holloway, Jane Nurre and Thelma Lewis.

At the start of the seminar, Ray Spangler, retired Redwood City newspaper publisher, will present the historic relationship between the two counties going back to 1894.

Evaluation Wins Approval

A program to undertake an evaluation of various departmental program objectives and values prior to considering their costs in the 1977-78 San Mateo County budget was approved last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. made the suggestion, stating in a report to the board:

"The elected county legislators must test the soundness of those general principles conducive to good government at our echelon. These principles are synonymous with the program objectives in each department.

"They should be reviewed and approved with or without modifications by this board at these pre-budget study sessions before we consider program costs. Otherwise we put the cart before the horse. Tax dollars are a necessary means to accomplish the ends of a program."

"If we merely look at the dollars, we have approved the program objectives by implication instead of reflection and public comment, the essence of policy formulation," Bacciocco said.

Supervisor William H. Royer said he believes a study of the detailed goals and objectives of each department would be "too much."

County Manager David L. Nichols said he would "like to see major departures from the traditional budget processes," but that there is not time to do it for all departments this year.

However, he added, "I encourage you to consider that approach."

SF Quakes Linked With San Mateo?

"Is San Francisco a city waiting to die? If so, chances are that northern San Mateo County will die with it."

That is the prediction of Richard Lambert, geology instructor at San Francisco State College and Skyline College, who will conduct a two-part workshop entitled "San Francisco Earthquakes: Past and Future" at Skyline College.

A three-hour lecture from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday, March 7, at the college will be followed by a day-long field trip on March 13 through sections of San Francisco that survived the 1906 Earthquake and Fire.

Water-Saving Tips Given by Daly City Chapter of AARP

Awareness and concern over the current water shortage were expressed by members of AARP Chapter No. 1541 in Daly City at their Feb. 14 meeting. In addition to the water-filled plastic bottles in toilet tanks to reduce the flow of water, and the reminder "not to flush each time," or the advice not to hose down cars or walks, members made the following suggestions:

- Connect the hose from your washing machine to a garden hose leading to the garden — to utilize waste water from washing.
- While getting hot water run the first cold water into a bucket or bathtub and use that water for something else.
- Place a large pan in your sink to catch excess water (washing hands, vegetables, etc.) and use for watering your plants.
- Save bath water — use for scrubbing floors, or flushing the toilet.
- When showering, make it brief. A couple of buckets in the shower will catch enough water to flush toilets.

- Get used to turning on the cold water faucet instead of the hot water faucet for rinsing hands, etc., thus saving gas necessary to heat the water.

- Teeth can be brushed with a glass of water instead of letting the faucet run.

It also was expressed that those in charge of parks, schools, and public buildings should be more conservative in the use of water — that many times water is left running on lawns much longer than necessary.

One member said that when he was in the Navy he had only 1/3 of a bucket of water in which to wash, shave, brush his teeth, and wash his clothes — and that it can be done! Another said to use an electric shaver instead of a suds shave. And another member suggested that if you take a shower with your clothes on, you can get a bath and your clothes washed at the same time!

San Bruno Closer to Own Paramedic Unit

By RICK SULLIVAN
Two San Bruno councilmen will recommend to their colleagues that they approve a municipally-financed emergency care service which would cost at least $122,000 per year.

Councilmen Tony Governale and Richard Griffith, members of a council paramedic subcommittee, decided last week to present the full governing body with a paramedic program that they said would augment one organized by the county last year. The county program is operated by a private ambulance company called Medevac.

Details of the proposal were discussed last Tuesday night by the councilmen and city staff members.

It was decided that the report to the council from the subcommittee will include two alternatives for initiating paramedic service in the city.

One option would provide that the city hire six new firemen immediately, purchase some $24,000 worth of equipment, train six firemen as paramedics and begin providing emergency care service as soon as the training is completed.

Cost of that program would be about $155,000 the first year and about $122,000 for the following year, they said.

The other alternative, one which will be recommended for approval, provides for a two-year phase-in of the paramedic service.

According to the plan, three new firemen would be hired in the next several months and three presently employed firemen would be sent to Stanford University for 3½ months of emergency care training.

Later in the year, three more fire fighters would be hired and three others would be enrolled at Stanford.

During that time the city would purchase paramedic equipment, including a truck and emergency care gear.

Full paramedic service would be offered beginning in September, 1978.

The cost of the second proposed program would be about $86,000 the first year, $130,000 the second year, and $122,000 the following year, they estimated.

The third figure, $122,000, would be an ongoing cost to fund the program.

Governale estimated that if the two-year program were to be adopted by the council, the property tax rate would have to be increased about 11 cents.

The subcommittee report, the product of three months of study by city officials, will describe what equipment should be purchased, the cost of training paramedics and how they will be utilized, among other items.

What will not be included in the report is an explanation of the levels of service paramedics would provide. There is disagreement among the city manager, the two councilmen and fire fighters over what service San Bruno paramedics will be able to provide that Medevac personnel cannot.

Water-Use Measures

By unanimous vote, city councilmen in San Bruno have adopted a water conservation resolution.

"To help continue our present lifestyle and to avoid serious restraints of our use of water, citizens of San Bruno are urged to observe the following rules," the resolution stated.

- Avoid washing sidewalks, driveways, filling station aprons, parking lots and porches.
- Avoid washing the exterior dwellings, buildings and structures, with the exception of window washing.
- Ensure that ornamental fountains or any other structure making use of water employ a recirculating system.
- Repair broken or defective plumbing, sprinkler, water or irrigation systems which permit the escape or leakage of water.
- Avoid the use of running hoses when washing automobiles or other vehicles.
- Severely reduce the quantity of and limit outside watering to only morning and evening hours and ensure that automatic irrigation systems are timed and adjusted to changing weather conditions.
- Encourage the use of inside water saving devices (shower flow restrictors and devices to lower toilet tank water volume.)

Barry Franchi, a fireman, claimed that a city paramedic program will yield several benefits not derived from Medevac service.

He maintained that the addition of six new firemen will increase fire protection service in the city; that city paramedics will be able to respond faster to an emergency than Medevac units; and that city firemen will be better trained than Medevac attendants.

Although City Manager Gerald Minford acknowledged that the addition of any additional fire fighters would upgrade fire service, he said he has not seen any data analysis that has shown that a city paramedic crew could respond to an emergency faster than Medevac.

Governale said he is inclined to believe that San Bruno units could respond faster than Medevac, especially in the upper hill neighborhoods.

Both Governale and Griffith said the report will not attempt to justify the need for paramedic service.

They said they would discuss the "life saving capabilities" of a municipally-owned service with their colleagues at the next council meeting.

Half Moon Bay Goes Light-Years Back

The 16 new "old fashioned" lamps given to the City of Half Moon Bay by the Main Street Committee for Beautification were formally presented to the city in ceremonies last week.

The $8,000 gift will be presented to the city at dusk in front of City Hall by Dolores Mullin, chairman of the fundraising group, and received by Mayor Albert J. Adreveno on behalf of the city. There were brief speeches and then champagne.

When the city first began the undergrounding of existing utilities, it was assumed that the familiar blue-white mercury vapor lamps would be used in the revamped area.

However, members of the committee began studying different types of lamps, and settled on warm, orange sodium vapor lamps in order to give Main Street a turn-of-the-century charm.

The lamps were purchased from Welsbach Lighting Products, Inc.

'Learning to Live' Series In Two Parts

A series on transactional analysis called, "Learning to Live," will be conducted in San Mateo and San Francisco during March and April. The fee is $20 for a series of six classes.

In San Mateo, the second of the series will start

April 18, and will be conducted from 7:45 to 9:30 p.m. at 25 W. 25th Ave., Patio 4, near Hillsdale. Registration is limited.

The San Francisco series will start March 1, and will be held during the same hours at Mercy High School, 3250 19th Ave.

Dorothy Albert, T.A. consultant and family counselor, will use color film and discussion to help those attending improve interpersonal relationships, "ego states, transactions, strokes, feelings, games and life scripts."

DANIEL WEBSTER FOUNDERS DAY

The Daniel Webster PTA will celebrate its 17th Annual Founders Day program at 7:30 today in the school's multi-use room. It will be an evening of entertainment and intrigue as the Honorary Service Award for 1977 will be announced. The entertainment for the evening is a variety hour program performed by a group of fifth and sixth grade students who have created, designed, and produced their own acts. Also, the Schumacher School of Dance will perform.

Dance Class Selection Offered

The Daly City Recreation Department has announced a selection of adult dance for exercise classes.

Diane Roberts will instruct all classes.

Advanced registration is required, and fees will not be taken at the class. To register, send name, address including City and Zip Code, daytime phone and correct fee to the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., Daly City, CA 94014 before the first class, denoting program and class. Make checks payable to Daly City Recreation Department.

All registration is on a first-come-first-serve basis. Refunds will not be made after the first class of each session.

Ballet for exercise — eight-week sessions: Westlake Park Clubhouse, 149 Lake Merced Blvd., Mondays, 1-2 p.m., March 28-May 23 (no class April 4).

Westmoor Park Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Drive, Thursdays, 7-8 p.m., March 17-May 12 (no class April 7).

Basic & Advanced Tap, eight-week sessions: Westlake Park Clubhouse, 149 Lake Merced Blvd., Mondays, 2-3 p.m. (beginning) March 28-May 23 (no class April 4).

Westmoor Park Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Drive, Thursdays, 8-9 p.m., March 17-May 12 (no class April 7).

Fees for each eight-week session: $5 resident; $7.50 non-resident.

Purim Event Slated

A Purim carnival will be held March 6, from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center, San Francisco.

Children and adults are urged to get into the spirit of Purim and don costume.

A spokesman for the center said the Purim story, as told in the Biblical book of Esther, is "a joyous celebration on the theme of victory of tyranny and unjust rulers."

A carnival of booths, prizes and family photos were being set up.

Entertainment will include "Marla and her Marvelous Belly Dancing Troupe" and "The New Habima Players," performing the "Story of Purim." The Beth Israel Judea folk dance troupe also will participate.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for children.

The center is located at 655 Brotherhood Way.

BOOK REVIEW

Dorothy DeBolt of the remarkable DeBolt family, whose story is told by Joseph P. Blank in "19 Steps Up the Mountain," will be speaker at the Friends of the Daly City Library March book review Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of Serramonte Library. The DeBolts have added 13 handicapped children to their six "biological" children — a family of 19 children in all. To Dorothy it was simply inevitable. "Once we knew about these children, how could we turn our back on them? Someone had to take them and love them. Someone had to give them a chance in life." The public is invited to attend.

Jefferson High School District Candidates Offer Their Views

• Angelo Cabe

Angelo Cabe is not satisfied with the educational progress being made within the JUHSD.

"My suggestions include quality and effective education to all students," Cabe wrote. "I will work for the education that will provide every student the best education that will prepare them for adult life."

Cabe also wants "a sound general education for all students, plus effective and diverse programs to meet the individual needs of each student as determined by their ethnicity, culture, language, values and lifestyles," he said.

Cabe said he wants community involvement of parents, students and school staff in establishing policy in terms of evaluation procedures for all personnel and programs of the district to guarantee the delivery. This quality education and the value of tax dollars spent on these programs.

"I will bring the Board of Trustees back to the education of our children and away from power politics and games that the present board (is) doing," Cabe stated.

As for reducing expenses of the district, Cabe declared that "the most practical solution to cutbacks in spending) would probably be cutting off some of the services," Cabe said.

Exactly which services would feel the bite of Cabe's axe, the candidate said, "I don't know yet."

"I have not seen, nor studied, the school district's overall budget," Cabe explained.

Cabe, 33, has a young son and has lived in the JUHSD for 10 years.

He has degrees in law, political science and business, he said.

He is now working toward a master's degree in public administration at San Francisco State University.

Five Seek Three Seats

By FRANK LAPIERRE

There are five persons, including three incumbents, vying for three seats in the March 8 consolidated school board elections in the Jefferson Union High School District, which serves Daly City, Pacifica and Western San Bruno.

The five are incumbents Mrs. Jane Powell; George Robinson and John H. Sloane and challengers Dorothy White and Angelo Cabe.

All candidates were asked identical questions on what they considered pertinent matters affecting the district.

• George Robinson

George Robinson, 45, has lived in the JUHSD for 17 years and is an incumbent candidate.

Robinson said that while he is "pleased with many aspects of student progress," there are still areas where improvement is needed, including student scores on tests that reflect achievement.

"Without dehumanizing the educational process, we need to know objectively what students are expected to learn and to be able to do at the completion of any course, as well as at the completion of high school," Robinson explained.

"Individual courses and programs need to be evaluated systematically in terms of these expectations," he said.

"Articulation," a word that Robinson said may be numbing to the ear, "is essential to all parties concerned."

Elementary schools need to know what they are doing is adequate to insure success of their students at the next level," Robinson said. "High schools need to know before hand what are the characteristics and needs of their incoming students."

Budgetary cutbacks should be made only after costs versus benefits of programs are examined to see that the goals and objectives of the district and individual needs of students are being met as economically as possible," Robinson explained.

"Before eliminating any programs, the board needs to establish priorities and a process for deciding on reductions in expenses," Robinson stated.

The candidate is married and the father of two boys, 16 and 18 years old.

He received his M.A. in counseling and guidance and an A.B. in chemistry from San Francisco State.

He holds a general secondary teaching, general pupil personnel services and administrative credentials.

• John H. Sloane

John H. Sloane, 47, has been on the JUHSD board since 1970.

"New legislation requires all students meet predetermined levels of proficiency in basic skills before being awarded a high school diploma," Sloane pointed out, and the JUHSD "is now in the process of developing these proficiencies with cooperation from our feeder elementary districts."

He thinks students graduating in 1980 "will be better prepared to function in our society because of these efforts."

If the district must reduce expenses this year, because of a deteriorating revenue base, where would the cutbacks be made?

"Cutbacks must be carefully considered in cooperation with all elements of our community," Sloane replied.

"Such reductions in expenses must be made," he said, "so that they will have a minimal effect on our instructional program."

A resident of Pacifica for 10 years, Sloane was a member of the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau board between 1972-75.

He cites, as his platform emphasis, basic and survival skills; adequate salaries and affirmative action hiring; more direct input into board decisions by students; increased community involvement and close cooperation with elementary schools in the district.

• Dorothy White

Mrs. Dorothy White has been a resident of Daly City for more than five years. Two of her four children are graduates of the Jefferson High School District.

Mrs. White said that while she is a member of a minority race, and believes in effective and realistic affirmative action programs, "I am much more concerned that our schools provide a top education program, as well as safety and discipline for all our children."

"We can no longer afford to be a segmented society, and I know that all people must unite to improve our schools," she said.

While realizing that there are many factors limiting actions of the school board, Mrs. White said she is convinced that past Jefferson Union High School District boards have been conservative in their approach to problems of the district.

"At a minimum, we have a right to expect effective and safe schools," she said. "We need a leadership that can inspire real cooperation between people — students, parents, teachers, administrators — in accomplishing those

• Jane Powell

Mrs. Jane Powell, a member of the JUHSD Board eight years, is satisfied generally with the educational progress in the district.

"The JUHSD is constantly striving to improve the curriculum offered to students," she said.

"Articulation between our district and the feeder school districts will make it possible for the students to be prepared to continue their education at the secondary level."

She said, "I am satisfied with the knowledge that there is the realization on the part of the board and the district that we must meet the needs of the community and we continue to seek ways to attain that goal."

"Satisfaction sometimes leads to complacency, there is still room for improvement, but I am happy that we progress."

To the question, "Where would budgetary cuts be made in the event the district is forced to reduce expenses because of a deteriorating revenue base?" Mrs. Powell declined comment, "since our district is now in negotiations (on the budget)."

She did express hope that drastic cutbacks need never be necessary.

Mrs. Powell has been a resident of Daly City 18 years; attended St. Anselm's, Grattan Grammar School and Lowell High School. She is married to Richard T. Powell and has five sons, one daughter and two grandchildren.

For 17 years, Mrs. Powell was a foster mother for a total of 47 emotionally-disturbed youths.

She is a member of the Daly City Recreation Commission; chairwoman of the city's General Plan Revision Committee; Mary's Help Hospital Guild; honorary member of Westmoor Block Association; and Life Member in Serramonte Sprockets (High School).

Mrs. Powell has received the Honorary Service Award (Westmoor High School) and the Continuing Service Award (17th District PTA).

Extension Asked for Affirmative Action

Although it lacked a quorum to conduct regular business, the San Mateo County Human Relations Commission did ask for an ordinance to extend affirmative action requirements to firms contracting to do business with the county.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Carolee Houser was informally asked Thursday night to draft an ordinance which would extend non-discrimination requirements to all firms doing business with the county. The county has such an ordinance at present but it applies only to the construction industry.

County Candidates View Outdoor Ed

Despite the public outcry concerning plans for the San Mateo County Schools Office to develop a $4.2 million outdoor education facility near Pescadero, only one of three members of the County Board of Education seeking re-election March 8 is facing opposition.

Joyce Harnett of South San Francisco, an engineering proposal writer and wife of a wire service editor, is challenging incumbent Granville DeMerritt for the Board of Education post from Trustee Area No. 3, comprising the South San Francisco Unified School District.

J. Paul Bradley, incumbent from Trustee Area No. 1 (La Honda-Pescadero Unified School District) since 1956, and Elio A. Fontana, incumbent from Trustee Area No. 2 (Jefferson Union High School District) since 1973 are not opposed for re-election to four-year terms on the board.

Mrs. Harnett is a member of the San Mateo County Family Life Education Committee, the Curriculum Materials Review Committee for San Mateo County Public Schools, the San Mateo County Projects to Achieve Creativity in Education (PACE), and of the Interagency Committee for School Health.

She has written columns on child rearing and is the author of a guidebook for Catholic secondary schools.

DeMerritt, who is director of classified employees for the South San Francisco Unified School District, was originally appointed to the Board of Education in 1972 and elected to a four-year term in 1973.

Mrs. Harnett contends that the plan to develop a new outdoor education facility "should be re-examined in view of taxpayer protests."

The challenger says that she favors continuing the outdoor education program "because our children need to know about the world around them. But, how fancy does such a program have to be?"

With educational priorities now being rearranged everywhere because of the financial bind on tax dollars, Mrs. Harnett maintains "there needs to be much more discussion and more general agreement among the parents and taxpayers of the county before money is spent on a brand new facility for this purpose."

She notes that the County Board of Supervisors, the County Planning Commission and the County Grand Jury all oppose the proposed new facility.

DeMerritt pledges his continued support for the outdoor education program.

"This program, subscribed to by most all San Mateo County school districts, is the most effective instruction available to elementary school children to learn about and appreciate our local environment," he says.

The candidates' stands on other matters:

MRS. HARNETT — "The school districts of San Mateo County should get together promptly to present a united county position in facing the impact of the Serrano decision on school financing."

The principle behind the Supreme Court ruling is that no child may be deprived of equal education because he or she lives in a poor district.

"I'd like to see the county board be the means of bringing all the districts together on a coordinated solution. The goal would be to see that no child in the county will be short-changed by whatever the state does," Mrs. Harnett said.

DeMERRITT — "I want to seek out and promote a sound system of school financing in light of the recent Supreme Court decision on Serrano. I favor equal education for all school children, but not at the expense of sacrificing San Mateo County's high standards of education.

"I seek legislative relief from the financial constraints imposed by the provision of SB 90, limiting school district revenues."

"I seek to promote the advantages derived from a sound collective bargaining system under the Rodda Act... (and) I will endeavor to promote its fullest and widest acceptance among school district boards, administrators, employees and, most importantly, the public itself," DeMerritt said.

Heroin Possession Charged

Michael A. Bonini, 25, of Aspen St., South San Francisco, was arrested and charged with possession of heroin after he was found unconscious inside a Daly City service station restroom Sunday.

Police said they were called to the station, at the corner of Gellert and Hickey boulevards, by the attendant after he discovered the man lying inside the restroom.

Police said they found seven "balloons" of heroin inside Bonini's jacket.

Bonini was found unconscious on the floor, his right sleeve rolled up and narcotics paraphernalia nearby, police said.

Seek Views on Traditional Education

Parents of elementary school children in the San Carlos School District are being mailed a survey that asks their preference regarding "traditional," or basic, education.

The new survey was put together by Dr. Vincent Campbell, an independent research consultant hired by the district board of trustees for this specific purpose.

The survey lists six areas, including order, homework and advancement.

Parents who favor the traditional method of instruction are asked if they would still favor the program if they had to transport their child to another school for him or her to participate in it.

The matter came before the board a year ago when a number of parents asked that their children have the opportunity to be in a more structured classroom environment that concentrated on such basics as reading, writing and arithmetic.

A quick survey by trustees last June showed that 10 per cent of the parents who returned an initial survey wanted to examine the basic education program. Subsequently, parent committees were formed for each elementary school in the district. A definition of traditional education was one of the results.

Now, before offering traditional education as an alternative, board members want to know just how many parents want the basic program.

Administration sources have said that San Carlos elementary education has remained close to what most call basic or traditional education.

Certain new concepts, they said, have been worked into it.

One modern program, for example, ties elementary education to high school education, with programs worked out that develop over a period of 12 years.

The survey form was approved last week by the board after a discussion of the language.

City Manager Denied Refund

A request by Belmont City Manager James P. DeChaine that he be refunded $244 for an alleged overpayment of a property conveyance tax on a four-plex he sold in Redwood City has been denied by that city's councilmen.

It was noted that DeChaine used official Belmont city stationery, with the city's masthead and the listing of the councilmen and the designation, "from the office of city manager," for his personal business with Redwood City.

"That is somewhat unprofessional," Acting Mayor Michael Barrett commented.

"Don't ask me to comment," Redwood City Manager James M. Fales Jr., said of the entire situation.

DeChaine sold a four-plex on Hopkins Avenue in Redwood City last December, and paid a $488 property conveyance tax.

In a letter to City Finance Director Jack P. Ference, DeChaine said his transaction also included the sale of apartment buildings in Mountain View and San Jose.

All of the sales were processed simultaneously as a multiple tax deferred exchange among a variety of parties in and out of San Mateo County, the manager explained.

"Only as a result of the peculiarity of this simultaneous transfer on properties was it interpreted by the title company to possibly require a double payment of the transfer tax fee on my four-plex being sold through the common

"Inasmuch as the property was sold to one other party, I feel that I have been unduly penalized in having to pay a double fee in conjunction with this multiple real estate transaction," DeChaine charged.

Redwood City councilmen disagreed and denied the claim, but referred it to the staff anyway.

Fales said he considered the request to be denied.

Le Pacini

What struck me immediately upon hearing of the Bobby Mercer for Bill Madlock trade was the irony of it for Mercer, who originally got into trouble with the local press and fans — and, eventually, management — for his gripping over Candlestick wind and weather. So he gets traded to Chicago, the Windy City. What sweet revenge for Giants' management, even if unintended.

It means that if Bobby gets his wish for a five year contract, as he demanded from the Giants, he will have to put up with half a decade of playing in a park that has at least as much wind by volume and force as Candlestick; wind which is just as erratic and shifting. And Wrigley Field gets hotter than Candlestick when it's hot, and colder than Candlestick when it's cold.

THERE ARE OTHER ironies in the situation. Madlock, it was reported, was asking for a five year contract from the Cubs at $200,000 per. Owner Phil Wrigley was reported as saying that under those demands, he would trade Madlock "to anyone foolish enough to want him."

Then, the Cubs trade for Mercer, who — so the story goes — was asking the Giants for five years and $1.5 million! What does Cub General Manager Bob Kennedy say to that?

"We won't get into the $1 million area."

Then, too, the Giants were a team, said the experts, which needed more power, "at least one more big man in the lineup." And that was BEFORE they lost Gary Matthews and Mercer, who were their one-two men in homers, RBI, total bases, extra base hits, slugging percentage and hitting with men on base, according to official NL statistics.

So apparently desperate for power — especially from the left side of the plate — were the Giants, that they invited the supposedly washed up Willie McCovey to spring training, hoping to resurrect him.

So they trade Mercer for a singles and doubles hitter who has never been a big RBI man and is not a clean-up type hitter, as was Mercer, who drove in more runs in slumps than Madlock was in hitting streaks.

As you can see, I'm not too crazy about this trade. But I am not being critical of it; merely pointing out its ironies.

AS IN MOST trades — and particularly now, with the reserve clause being virtually eliminated — it was merely a matter of teams trading problems. And this kind of trade will become more and more typical as the new era of baseball free agency proceeds.

It is no longer a matter of trading to help your club, but trading to hurt it.

I am sure that Spec Richardson did the best he could under the circumstances. I am not privy to what goes on behind the scenes. After all, he did get a man who has led the National League in hitting for two consecutive years, who has a .337 lifetime batting average, and who is 4½ years younger than Mercer. And Richardson reportedly had to out-hustle a loaded Pittsburgh for Madlock.

But, I can't get out of my mind Madlock's seemingly annual leg problems, his defensive shortcomings — in short, his possible one dimensionality as a baseball player.

Perhaps I am wrong, or perhaps I am right now, but will be wrong in the future. Madlock is still young (26) and can learn to improve his defensive capabilities. He played more games last year by 12 (142) than he had ever played in the big leagues, so perhaps his health is improving. And he hit his career highs in doubles (36) homers (15) and RBI (84) last season, so maybe he is growing muscles.

I hope, in fact, that I am so wrong that this column will make a fool of me in September, because I want the Giants to succeed in San Francisco, and it will be hard to be successful with a gimpy singles hitter at third base, and minimal power in the middle of the lineup.

ONE CERTAIN positive aspect of the trade is that it should eliminate some spring training confusion. It means that rookie Jack Clark will not now have to detract himself as an outfielder and return to third base, where he had been unsuccessful, defensively, in the minors. He probably will take Mercer's spot in right field. It also means that Darrell Evans, the only power swinging southpaw in the regular lineup now, can concentrate on playing first base, instead of packing that finger mitt in his back pocket in the event that Clark failed. Remember, Evans had been a better-than-average defensive third baseman in Atlanta.

That, in turn, probably means that young Gary Thomasson, who never seems to be assured of a position, can now concentrate on trying to take the left field job away from newly-arrived Willie Crawford or center field away from Sporting News Rookie of the Year Larry Herndon instead of worrying about playing first had Evans gone to third. At worst, it looks now as if Thomasson might platoon with Herndon and finally be allowed to develop.

As for the periphery players in the trade, I know nothing about Steve Muhlstock, the minor league pitcher the Giants sent to the Cubs, and it seemed pretty evident that utility man Steve Ontiveros didn't fit into the Giants' plans. All I know about Rob Spering, who comes to the Giants, is that he has a good glove, can play all over the infield, but mainly at second, doesn't hit well, possibly won't even make the club, but is at least temporarily the native San Franciscan infielder who needed to replace Ken Reitz as a local rooting interest.

IT'S FINALLY happening to USF. The Curse of the Winner. It was inevitable.

You see, it's no longer enough that USF win. They must now win "impressively." One or two point victories are practically considered losses. Overwhelming wins are what is important.

If they win by 20, a better defense would have made it 30. If they win by 10, a less lethargic offense could have made it 20. If they win by 30-40, the opponent was weak. USF may even be accused of "pouring it on." In a recent 17 point win over St. Mary's, "muscle" saved the Dons. It was barely mentioned that they clinched the WCAC title. A week prior to that, their "depth" had saved them against a Gaels team that scrambled well defensively in the first half. According to one newspaper report in the 17 point St. Mary's win, the Dons were going through the motions on offense and getting "horsepower" and "playing just well enough to win." The conclusion? They won only because of "horsepower" burned on defense, "hardly looking like a top-ranked team."

What is a top-ranked team supposed to look like, and what is it supposed to win with once it becomes the only undefeated major team in the nation? Maybe it should split its squad up and play a double schedule.

ONE OTHER THING the Dons have done is to make what had always been considered a pretty strong West Coast Athletic Conference a "weak" one. That's right. Now that the Dons roll through the WCAC critics are saying that they have a weak schedule. They must have if they can win most games by 20 points while looking "bad," right?

Strange how "weak" the Pac-8 was when the really great UCLA teams were running roughshod over it, and how it is so "well-balanced" and strong, now that the Bruins are merely very, very good rather than great.

LOCAL TAG-END: Nick Pappageorge, one of those Gaels who made the Dons look "bad," is a local boy. The high scoring, hustling guard starred at Skyline College just last year.

Skyline-Menlo Tilt Crucial to State Hopes

By FRED BAER
Correspondent

Skyline College has clinched at least a tie for the 1977 Coast Conference basketball title. But the Trojans can ill afford to falter in Wednesday's league finale.

That's because defending champion Menlo, only one game back at 9-2, visits Skyline's San Bruno hilltop campus for the 7:30 p.m. finale.

An outright title means Skyline (10-1) would have to be beaten twice in the league's four-team Shaughnessy tournament to lose the state tournament berth.

But in the case of co-champions, any loss in the first round (semifinals) eliminates a team — even if both co-champs lose.

(This is different from the high school Shaughnessy system where a team, such as Serra in the WCAL, can come back in a loser's bracket. Community college regulations limit the total number of playoff games per conference to four.)

Guard Ted Scott's 22 points paced Skyline to a 100-67 victory over visiting Cabrillo Saturday night while Menlo survived a trip to Salinas with a 67-50 triumph over Hartnell.

Scott, the 5-11 freshman from Westmoor High, extended his Coast Conference free throw streak to 23 with two more and hit on 10 of 18 from the field. His former Westmoor teammate Jerry McNeil contributed 15 points and 12 rebounds while forward Joe Adams added 14 rebounds and 10 points.

Skyline scoring leader Dave Davis picked up three first half fouls and a fourth at the outset of the second half and settled for 13 points. His replacement for much of the game, Capuchino grad Jason Malinowski, produced eight assists and eight points.

"It was our best-balanced scoring of the year," noted Trojan coach Lyle Newcomer. "I hope it's an indication of the way we'll play Wednesday."

Hartnell took a 30-25 halftime lead over visiting Menlo. But the Oaks recovered quickly in the second half and had little trouble at the end. Australian forward Collin Heard led the Oaks with 14 points, while Hillsdale grad Mike Stockwell added 13 from his guard spot.

Although Monterey Peninsula (6-5) has clinched the third spot in the Coast Conference playoffs (and final standings), fourth place will be determined Wednesday when Hartnell visits Gavilan. Both are 4-7, while Cabrillo finished 4-8 and will share fifth place in the final standings with Wednesday's loser.

And there's another significance to the that game, should Skyline and Menlo share the title.

To break a first place tie for playoff seeding purposes, the team that lost to the lower team in the standings will get the lower (No. 2) seed and host Monterey Peninsula in the playoff opener.

If Hartnell, only team to beat Skyline, wins the No. 4 spot Wednesday, the Panthers will open the playoffs at Skyline March 2. Menlo, which has lost to lower Cabrillo, will be No. 2 regardless and host Monterey the same evening.

If Gavilan gets the No. 4 spot by relegating Hartnell to a fifth place tie with Cabrillo, the tie-breaking formula will not work and a coin flip will be necessary to separate any co-champs.

It is definite that both Skyline and Menlo will host Coast Conference semifinal games March 2 and that all playoff games they're involved in will be played in San Mateo County. (Higher-seeded team hosts each game.)

Haste Pays for Cap

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
Sports Writer

Capuchino High's basketball team is in a hurry. Perpetually. Sometimes that haste hurts. And sometimes it wins championships.

It did both Saturday night at Hillsdale High when the Mustangs downed Aragon 52-50 on a fast break with 0:03 remaining to win the Mid-Peninsula League Shaughnessy playoffs.

Now the Mustangs are hoping their speed will see them through this Saturday night's Central Coast Section Region I finals, where they'll meet the winner of Thursday night's first-round game between Serramonte and the West Catholic Athletic League champion.

"I sure wish they had a 30-second clock in high school basketball," said Cap center Dave Lopp. "Then I think we'd really be tough to beat. Sometimes when the pace slows down we get a little impatient."

Serramonte would probably run with Cap, but the WCAL champ (no matter whether it's Serra or Mitty) is less likely to let Cap do its thing.

"We can play a slow-down game if we have to, I think," said Lopp. "Then, when we get the ball, we can run — I think we have the talent to set the pace in a game."

Cap dictated almost everything during the first half of the championship game. The Mustangs were running well, scoring well inside and outside, and beating the Dons on the boards. Cap was up 22-14 after a quarter, and built the lead to 28-14 before the Dons cut the margin to 10 at the half, 37-27.

Aragon came out playing a combination zone in the second half, and Cap did get impatient — and stagnant. The Mustangs forced shots, made bad passes, and started to lose the boards.

Meanwhile Aragon center Sid Williams, the MPL's Most Valuable Player, was a key figure at both ends of the court. He scored 10 of his 33 points in the third quarter. Aragon outpointed the Mustangs 11-1 to open the second half and the game was tied after three quarters, 42-42.

Cap guard Dennis Haskins tossed in two baskets at the beginning of the fourth quarter — the second an 18-footer — and Cap grabbed a two-point lead. Mustang Coach Jimmy Johnson had his charges sit on the ball while the clock ticked down from 6:40 to 4:17, but Aragon forward Charles Patton stole the ball and raced the distance for a layup to knot the score at 46.

The rest of the game was cautiously played. Haskins tossed in a shot and teammate Mitch Fontaine scored on a follow, but after each bucket Williams hit both ends of a one-and-one at the other end to put Aragon up 50-46.

Cap guard Mike Mitchell, who had been doing most of the Mustangs' scoring, didn't tally a point in the fourth quarter, but he still got Cap the win. He hit Lopp with a nice assist at 1:35 and Lopp tied the game at 50.

Aragon came down and stalled for the last shot. The ball finally went to Williams at the top of the key, and with 0:07 left Williams jumped, leaned back and fired.

The ball didn't go in, but it didn't adhere to the laws of gravity, either. "I just kept watching and watching and it looked like it would never come down," said Haskins.

But come down it did. Lopp grabbed the rebound, flipped it off to his right to Mitchell, who fired a long downcourt pass to Fontaine. Fontaine, under a full head of steam, streaked for the winning layup with 0:03 left.

Aragon got one chance, but overthrew a length-of-the-court pass intended for Williams.

Mitchell, who was coming off his lowest-scoring game of the season, wound up with 22 points. But those fourth-quarter assists were just as pretty as the long jump shots.

"The game before was the worst game I ever played," said Mitchell. "I just had to get it into my head to play right, and I came out shooting."

"I never hesitated on the pass at the end. I saw him (Fontaine) take off and I knew he'd be down there. The Aragon man guarding me stood out there and didn't challenge me, so I just threw the ball. It was our best fast break of the season."

Cap's players want to get to the CCS finals, but their hopes for the regionals have a distinctly chauvinistic flavor. "We'd sure like to play Serra again," said Lopp. (Serra defeated Cap in an early practice season game.) "We'd like to see who the best in the County is now."

There's a chance Cap will get its wish, since Serra is playing for the WCAL title and a berth in the Region I playoffs Tuesday night.

"We can't play against a team like, for instance, Serra, the way we played tonight," said Mustang coach Johnson. "We ran up against that screwy zone of theirs, and it's not like we haven't seen it before. . . but we'd make two passes and then throw the ball away."

"The Catholic teams will just lick the ball. They'll make 13 or 14 passes before they take the shot. Of course, sometimes they might get a shot in two minutes that we might get in four seconds. . . you never know."

"One thing I do know. I'm sure glad I won't have to look at Sid Williams for another season."

Williams' heroics went for naught, but his playoff games were worthy displays of his talent — in the two MPL postseason contests he scored 68 points, got 39 rebounds and blocked seven shots. There wasn't a whole lot more he could have done.

League, Westmoor scored an upset to knock off first-place Terra Nova, 49-46, and throw the NPL race into a three-way tie for the lead.

With league play completed, South San Francisco, Terra Nova and Westmoor are all deadlocked in first place with 6-2 records.

In a typical see-sawing NPL game, Westmoor's running and gunning managed to overcome the fine, all-around play of Terra Nova star Becky Myers. Super soph Myers, playing furiously at both ends of the court, fouled out with the score knotted at 41-41 in the middle of the fourth quarter.

Westmoor's Donna Imsand, who hit clutch baskets from all over the court, and hard-driving guard Sue Murray then put the game out of reach with key baskets down the stretch to stave off a strong Terra Nova rally. Lisa Maurino pulled down 21 rebounds for Westmoor.

El Camino joins SSF, TN and Westmoor in the NPL Shaughnessy Playoffs set at El Camino High next Wednesday, with JV's at 3:15 and Varsity at 7 p.m. The finals will be held Friday at 7 p.m. Positions in the tourney will be decided by draw.

The Mid-Peninsula League picture is a little less foggy with San Mateo High holding a one-game lead over second-place Hillsdale with one league game remaining.

However, SMHS's (11-1) only league loss came in last week's tightly-contested game with Hillsdale (9-2). Both teams are eager for the anticipated rematch in the MPL playoffs, and could be ripe for upsets by hard-working Burlingame and Crestmoor, who always seems to wind up in the playoffs.

The MPL All-League teams will be announced at the half-time of the final contest of the Shaughnessys, which are slated for 3 p.m. next Thursday (with the varsity at Capuchino and the JV's at Burlingame). Finals will be held at 6 p.m. (JV) and 8 p.m. (Varsity) at Aragon Friday, Feb. 25.

SPAL The perennial favorites, Menlo-Atherton and Carlmont, finished the league schedule in a dead heat at 7-1.

The two teams will clash tonight at 7 at Sequoia's gym in a one-game playoff which will feature the league's first- and second-ranked scorers, M-A's Melody Clark (with an 18 point-per-game average) and Carlmont's Alisa Wilson (12.9 points per game).

The winner of this contest will represent the SPAL in the Region II CCS playoffs.

GPSS Mercy High of Burlingame, the only undefeated girls' basketball team in the County, continued its winning ways with a 48-21 crushing of Castilleja High, Palo Alto, Thursday night in Girls Private School League play.

With Patrice Bender hitting long set shots from downtown and Penny Stack hitting on inside lay-ups and jumpers, Mercy easily handled the smaller Castillejans.

Mercy, which must practice out of doors rain or shine, and plays most games away due to the lack of an indoor court, upped its league record to 6-0, and overall mark to 14-0.

GPSS finals will be held at 3:45 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 25 at Castilleja. The winner will join the MPL and NPL champions in the Region I CCS finals, which will be held at El Camino High on Feb. 28 and March 2 at 7 p.m.

Local Matmen Win Regionals

Both Hillsdale and Half Moon Bay high schools came up with impressive team performances in the Region I wrestling meet Saturday at De Anza College.

Hillsdale, the Mid-Peninsula League champ, tied for second with Fremont of the De Anza league with 79 points. HMB, the North Peninsula League titlist, placed fifth with 67 points. Monta Vista won the meet with 96 points.

The Knights had two individual winners, one second, a third and a fourth. Veteran John Moniak won the 120-pound class with a 7-4 decision in the finals.

Bill Sallie of Hillsdale defeated Neil DeNatale of Jefferson 3-2 to win the 138-pound class. And John LaRochelle of Aragon won the 165-pound class with a referee's decision win over Jim Martire of Jefferson.

Jess Ayer of Half Moon Bay won the unlimited class by a 4-0 decision. His teammate, Greg Shaffer, was second at 133's and Dean Raffello was the runner-up at 154. John Pepper placed fourth at 120's.

Oceana's Cliff Gosse was the only other local winner; he beat Rich Marshall of Hillsdale in 95's by a referee's decision.

The top four placers in each weight class qualified for next Saturday's Central Coast Section meet at West Valley College. The MPL has 13 wrestlers going, and the NPL is sending 10. Individually, Hillsdale qualified five and HMB and Crestmoor each has four.

DC Booter on Olympic Team

Dan Salvemini, 1976 All-American Soccer booter and Cal Berkeley sophomore, has been selected as a member of the U.S. Olympic Soccer Team which will meet the Dutch Olympians on March 1 in San Diego.

Salvemini was chosen by the U.S. National coach Walt Chyzowych as one of an elite 16-man squad.

The U.S. team is preparing for the 1980 Olympic Games and the match against the Dutch team is the first in a series of International competition aimed at solidifying the team before the Moscow Games.

Salvemini has been Cal's leading scorer and the 6-1 forward-halfback was chosen to the All-Far West Conference team.

Salvemini joins brother Len who was a member of the 1976 Olympic and Pan American teams and twice All-American while at the U.S. Air Force Academy, 1971-75. Coming up the ranks are brother Ron, a junior at St. Ignatius College Prep and '75 MVP of the Varsity Soccer team. Youngest, seven-year-old Michael, was leading scorer for the 8-under Westlake International Soccer Club which won the division championship. Trainer for the 48 youngsters in that league was big brother Dan.

The boys are sons of Michael and Leonora Salvemini of Daly City.

CSM Golfers College of San Mateo padded its lead by one stroke in the West Valley Invitational Golf Tournament Thursday with a Scotch Foursome score of 210 over the Menlo Country Club course.

San Mateo now leads Canada College by five strokes with a tournament total of 437.

The final round of the tournament was being played today at Stanford.

CSM Scoring — Bachelder-Biel 73, Akchurin-Schlosser 68, Murray-Griffin 69, Canada Scoring — Rice-Griffin 75, Truxler-Groetewohl 67, Walter-Armstrong 69. Team Scores — San Mateo 437, Canada 442, MB Menlo 465, West Valley 472.

Diplomas Available Through Jefferson Adult Division

Adults needing a high school diploma now may get one through a new individualized and accelerated program in Daly City. It marks the first such program in the San Francisco Bay Area.

At the new Academic Studies Center which will operate four evenings a week at Serramonte High School beginning with the Spring quarter March 14, the required course for a diploma will employ "learning activity packages," replacing lectures and homework. Students will work their way through the packages at their own speed during class, with the instructor available for individual help.

"This new system offers two big advantages," Adult School Principal Louis J. Martin observed. "Students who are turned off by lectures and classwork may now work entirely on their own. And each student can progress at his own speed — up to twice as fast as now if he wants."

Another advantage of the new system is that all required classes will be at the same location at Serramonte, instead of scattered at different adult schools throughout the Jefferson district as at present.

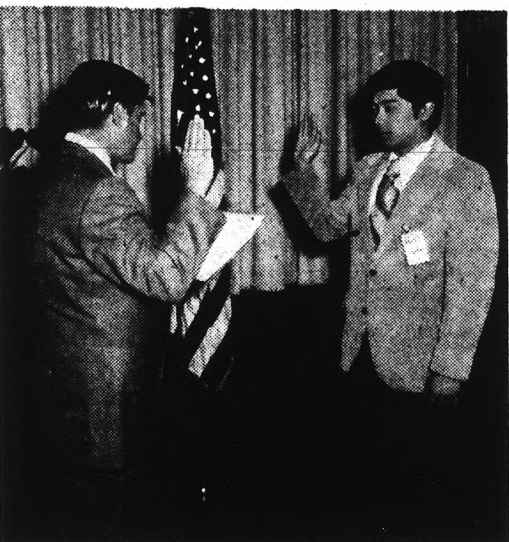

An additional choice newly opened to adults is the California High School Proficiency Examination (CHSPE), previously available only to 16 and 17 year olds. Those who pass this examination receive a Certificate of Proficiency, which is legally equivalent to a high school diploma. Of course, the General Education Development examinations leading to a high school diploma, are also available, but some adults may find the practical, everyday emphasis of the new CHSPE more attractive.

For further information, phone the Jefferson Adult Division during daily office hours at 755-8558.

NEW DALY CITY OFFICERS

OATH TAKEN

The Regent

By Mylene Schwimmer
Commissioner of Publicity

Dion DuBois has been appointed as Serramonte High School's permanent principal. DuBois had been serving as "acting principal."

The Serramonte chapter of C.S.F. (California Scholarship Federation) recently held its spring semester elections.

The new officers are President Joyce Boghosian, Vice-President Mylene Schwimmer, Secretary Tonya McCowan, and Treasurer Debbie Hutton.

Some of C.S.F.'s plans for the future include trips to UC Berkeley and U.C. Davis.

Serramonte has a new chess club.

The purpose of this club is to give members the opportunity to play and improve their game of chess and to enjoy themselves with other students.

The club's players put themselves in the beginner, intermediate, or advanced category and may advance as their game improves.

At the end of the year, a tournament will be held among Serramonte's chess club members. They would also like to challenge other school's chess clubs.

The officers of the chess club are president Shirley Ong, Vice-President Steve Gersh, Secretary Chris Yamamoto, and Treasurer Ken Fine-man. The club advisor is Cliff Braun.

Other members are Joyce Boghosian, Matt Bugler, Brent Burgess, Alexandra Chrysanthis, Angelo Delfin, Gisela Deutsch, Robert Fliegler, Robert Foiles, Alan Fonacier, Felix Hon, Edward Lam, Imogene Mamoe, Peter Fubio, Ken Theis, Linda Wenzelburger, David Young, and Gary Yu.

Whether advanced or a beginner, any student can join the Serramonte Chess Club. Anyone interested should attend the next chess club meeting or see President Shirley Ong.

DON'T FORGET: Auditions for Serramonte's spring production of "West Side Story" are being held this week in the Little Theater. Anyone can be a star!

SERRAMONTE has an active Booster's Club, whose main purpose is to promote and support the athletes and athletic programs of both boys and girls at the school.

The club is composed primarily of interested parents who wish to become involved in a meaningful way with Serramonte. A variety of social as well as fund-raising events are planned for the remainder of the year.

Booster club activities coming up include a meeting on March 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Water Conservation Warnings: No One's Been Listening

Can Californians conserve water without a system of rationing and fines? Probably not.

As long ago as 1955 the Secretary of Agriculture wrote, "We have to stop wasting water. We have to use it more efficiently in industry, in towns and cities, in farming and in irrigation."

Did anyone listen? With the passing of the crisis which prompted the secretary, the nation forgot the secretary's words.

In 1967 Senator Frank Moss, who was recognized as one of the foremost congressional authorities on the subject of water, wrote a book entitled The Water Crisis and warned that 20th Century America "was in the midst of a perilous water crisis." Before Congress and in his book, Senator Moss called for a nationwide water policy. "There are many great water conservation and development projects underway, but they do not yet add up to an adequate national program."

No one listened. As soon as the crisis of 1967 passed the knowledgeable Senator's words were forgotten.

In 1974 the East Bay Municipal Utility District warned, "If we waste our good water now, it will be difficult to find more when we need it."

To help people conserve water E.B.M.U.D. published a compendium of practical advice entitled Water Conservation Today and Tomorrow. While it has been out of print, it will be available again in March 1977.

Taking the various conveniences found in today's house if offers some choice bits of information.

Each time a toilet is flushed, as much as seven gallons of water flows into the sewer. There are two ways to cut down on the water used in the toilet — first, don't use it as often; and second, reduce the water per flush. ... An inexpensive, safe and easy method of displacement is to use plastic bottles such as soap and laundry softener bottles. Fill them with water, weight them and place them in the tank, and it doesn't cost you anything." A number of hints on toilet maintenance are given.

Speaking of showers the E.B.M.U.D. pamphlet states a five-minute shower can use over 40 gallons of water, and longer showers can become an extravagant waste of water. A partially filled tub bath will use far less water than a longer shower, though a short shower may use less than a full tub. "Cutting down the amount of water used in the shower will conserve energy as well as water."

Of running water while shaving, teeth brushing, and hair washing the E.B.M.U.D. book says, it is like connecting the train to your tap.

An automatic dishwasher will use around 25 gallons a run, whether there is a full load or just a tea cup.

When you scrub vegetables and prepare foods, put a stopper in the sink instead of letting the faucet run. Keep a jug of ice water in the refrigerator instead of letting the water run to get cold.

A washing machine will use about 40 gallons of water a load, whether it is a week's worth of clothes or just a couple of washcloths.

There are many other suggestions in the E.B.M.U.D. book. They should be noted and followed. Otherwise Californians can expect laws that will "change our lives drastically."

Nothing Unusual in SSF Audit For 1976

Finance Director Bill Anderson said there are no surprises in the South San Francisco audit released last week, even though a councilman had repeatedly suggested there would be.

"It's an accurate representation of the city's finances," Anderson said. He said the findings of the auditing firm, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., are in line with the city's records.

The audit covers the 1975-76 fiscal year. Anderson said the auditor soon will be releasing a management letter which includes comments and recommendations.

The city's routine annual audit evolved into a controversy last year when Councilman William Borba recommended that the council undertake an "in-depth audit."

The council then argued for months over the value of abandoning its auditor of nearly 20 years, Gus Chagaris of South San Francisco.

The councilmen repeatedly asked Borba why he was insisting on a more detailed audit than usual.

Borba refused to give any specific reason for demanding a new auditor and a more complex audit.

"I'll give an inkling of what I'm looking for, but I won't go into it in public," Borba declared in June.

After several months of discussion and two different surveys of possible auditors, the council chose a new auditor for $9,000.

The city's annual audit in previous years had cost $10,000.

"It's a fresh viewpoint," Anderson said last week. "It's always valuable to have a new viewpoint."

Anderson said there is one major change in the city's accounting procedures as a result of the audit. The city's sewer, marina and parking funds now will be listed as "enterprise" accounts clearly showing the accurate profits or losses for each.

Members of the United Taxpayers Association in recent months have questioned the financial status of the city's Oyster Point Marina in particular. While they indicated that the city's records showed the marina operating at a great loss, city staff members explained the appearance of a loss was due to the accounting method.

Before the auditor's report was even released Wednesday evening, the City Council disagreed over audit procedures.

Councilman Dick Battaglia, who had voted against hiring a new auditor, asked for a public report of how much staff time was utilized to compile the new audit.

Battaglia stated that the agreement with the auditor called for use of city staff and that the $9,000 contract was not a true reflection of the audit costs.

"I think we're spending city money here and the public has a right to find out," Battaglia said. If staff members spent many hours assisting the new auditor, the process actually cost more than $9,000, he said.

Battaglia said he believed all along that $9,000 was an erroneous figure.

However, Mayor Leo Padreddi claimed that Battaglia had no right to ask the staff for a report of the time they spent on the audit. The council's consensus is needed to make that request, he claimed.

"You were against the audit to begin with and now you are trying to make it look like an improper audit," Padreddi said. He asserted that Battaglia is trying to show there was a waste of taxpayer's money just to prove a point.

"A report of staff time was a reasonable request," Battaglia responded.

"It looks like you're trying to shovel something under the carpet here," Battaglia said.

During the disagreement, Borba interjected that the council should examine the report before requesting anything.

"You may see some things in there why this audit was requested," Borba said. He and Councilman Emanuele Dimonte were on the Audit Committee.

A new regional taxation plan under which industries in San Mateo County might help pay for park facilities in San Francisco often visited by San Mateo County residents may be in the offing.

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, this county's lead delegate to the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG), grumbled this morning that "the whole idea is a scheme by San Francisco to get the rest of us to pay for everything."

He warned, however, not to overlook the possibility of such a thing happening.

The plan came to light Wednesday night when Bill Press, director of the State Office of Planning and Research, said his office had agreed with ABAG on a pilot program for industrial site selection and tax sharing.

Press said that property tax generated by a new industrial site to be selected by the pilot program would be split 50-50, with half of the tax revenue remaining with the local jurisdiction and half going into a regional pot to be shared among other communities.

Dean Macris, assistant executive director of ABAG, said this morning that his understanding of the project is slightly different though essentially the same.

"There is a project. We have agreed, at the request of the governor's office, to undertake a plan for the Bay Area to determine where suitable locations are for heavy industry."

Macris said ABAG would not be forcing industrial sites on local communities, but merely mapping those sites already established.

In addition, he said, ABAG would be gathering all zoning and other regulations into one filing system, so that developers would be able to determine at one spot just how many agencies they had to win approval from.

There might be some effort to get local communities to coordinate their zoning codes and regulations, Macris said.

The governor sees this as a demonstration, an effort to work with local governments and permitting agencies," and to "streamline the permitting process itself."

As for the regional tax aspect, Macris said, ABAG has agreed "to look into it."

As Fitzgerald suggested, the request came not from the governor's office, but from San Francisco's Board of Supervisors, two months ago.

"We're determining whether there is regional interest in this," Macris said. "We hope to sponsor a regional conference soon on the advantages and disadvantages of such a plan."

One place ABAG is looking for information, he said, is Minneapolis, where a regional tax plan is in operation. There, he said, 60 per cent of tax income from new facilities having regional impact remains with the local jurisdiction. The other 40 per cent is shared out.

Macris said the regional tax sharing approach is "another result of the Serrano-Priest decision" in which courts ruled that tax support for schools must be equalized throughout the state.

"The whole local tax structure has now been thrown into question," he said. "There is a lot of discussion about who pays for what."

"If the federal government assumed all responsibility for welfare, and the state government took care of schools, local governments would be freed up, quite a bit."

"We will be working with the state, and the local governments on this question."

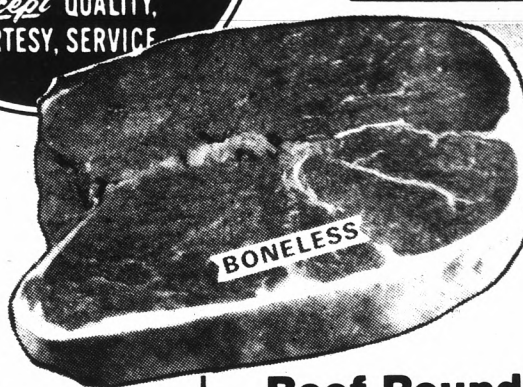

"The first step is to determine how much interest there is."

Board OKs Position But No Money for It

The current San Mateo County budget crunch resulted last week in the Board of Supervisors authorizing the reinstatement of the position of coordinator for the Developmental Disabilities Council, but not the financing that goes with it.

The board unanimously approved a motion by Supervisor William H. Royer to reinstate the post, but put a freeze on filling it unless the Department of Health and Welfare can provide the $8,000 to finance it for the remainder of the fiscal year by eliminating a position somewhere else.

The action came after a futile attempt by Supervisors Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. and Fred Lyon to get financing for the position from the county's contingency fund.

Dr. Howard Gurevitz, assistant to the director of the County Department of Health and Welfare, recommended reinstatement of the position, which inadvertently was deleted last summer during county budget deliberations.

Members of the developmental council sought the reinstatement, asserting that a coordinator is needed to keep abreast of funding sources to maintain council programs and legislation affecting council operations.

Gurevitz himself suggested reinstatement of the position without the funding.

"If we can find the money in other programs, we will hire, otherwise we will not," he told the board. His suggestion was supported by County Manager David L. Nichols.

Bacciocco asked if the position is not financed whether the health and welfare staff would be willing to step in and attempt to provide the services, "or will we let the ship drift off the sea willy-nilly?"

can until we get the position filled," Gurevitz replied. "We're attempting to work it out."

Bacciocco moved that the board finance the position from the county's

"shrinking contingency fund."

The supervisor, who has declined to accept the $3,039 salary increase board members received this year, added that, "we can all take a wage cut, and we will have the $8,000 we're talking about."

Board Chairman John M. Ward reminded the board that it recommended last week that it would be up to the Department of Health and Welfare to recommend whether it wanted to move the position up in priorities.

Lyon contended that is what the board would be doing if it accepted Bacciocco's motion.

"We're placing a high priority if we approve funding today," Lyon stated.

Royer replied that he felt, "some deletion has to be made some place. When the staff recommends, I'll be ready to approve."

After defeating Bacciocco's motion to finance the position by a 3-2 vote, the board accepted Royer's proposal.

Papan Puts SP Resolution In State Assembly Hopper

A resolution calling on the Interstate Commerce Commission to deny permission to Southern Pacific

Transportation Co. to abandon its freight right-of-way between Daly City and San Bruno has been offered in the state legislature by Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, D-Daly City.

Papan pointed out in the bill, Assembly Joint Resolution 5, that there hasn't been time to consider the possible use of the rail line for passenger trains or other types of mass transit.

The Metropolitan Transportation Commission recently completed a $350,000 study (called the PENTAP study) on a San Francisco-San Jose corridor. It said that abandonment of this right-of-way "could cause irreparable damage to an overall plan." Papan insisted. The right-of-way is seen by some as an important link in any extension of BART or another rail system south from Daly City.

Referee's Hiring Delayed

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has postponed until March 1 a decision on the hiring of a full-time traffic referee for the Central District Municipal Court in San Mateo.

Judges of the court are seeking a full-time referee because the man who presently holds the position, Norman Gatzert, and has been spending half-time each in the Southern and Central district court will be assigned full-time to the Southern District beginning April 1.

The matter was before the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

County Manager David L. Nichols said that hiring of a full-time traffic referee would cost the county $7,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Board Chairman John M. Ward suggested continuing the matter until March 1 because he and Supervisor William H. Royer plan to meet with Phrasel L. Shelton, presiding judge of the Central District Court, Feb. 22 to discuss consolidation of the two court districts.

In its action continuing the matter, the board also incorporated a request for the Southern District Court to "reconsider its desire" to have the traffic referee work full time in that district until the consolidation matter is settled.

The legislation which gives the county authority to consolidate the two districts provides for only one traffic referee to serve the consolidated district.

However, Southern District Municipal Court Clerk Gwen Preston informed the board that Thomas M. Smith, presiding judge of the Southern District Municipal Court, intends to seek an amendment to the consolidation bill to provide for two traffic referees if the court districts are consolidated.

Ward noted that the judges have the autonomous authority to appoint a full-time referee for the Central District. However, the board is hopeful they will not take such action in view of the current county budget crisis.

Bible Study For Adults

A five-part morning Bible study for adults on the Book of Ruth will begin Sunday at 11:30 a.m. at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh St., Daly City.

Elders Homer Boone and Mert Jones are convener. This will be held after the 10 a.m. worship service and Sunday School, and the friendly office time.

The high school class also will meet at 11:30 a.m. The class will be taught by Dawn Klevesahl and Don Mulliken.

A weekly Sunday evening Bible study continues at 7:30 p.m. at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Herbert Tweedie.

Young adults and adults are invited. Study is in the Book of 1 Peter.

Council Seeks Federal Funding

City Hall Warms-Up to Solar Energy Plan

By RICK SULLIVAN
The City of San Bruno is going to hire a consulting engineer to design a solar energy system for City Hall.

The city also will apply for federal funds to pay for installation of the system, the City Council decided Monday night.

If the system is built, San Bruno would be the first municipality in San Mateo County to use the sun's energy to heat and air condition all civic center buildings.

The council agreed that conversion from the present mechanical system to one operated by solar energy would be both cost-effective and environmentally sound.

As soon as an engineer is hired — at a cost not to exceed $6,000 — the staff will apply for U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development funds to pay for the solar system.

Bill Kelly, director of planning and building, told the council the federal government is encouraging municipal use of solar energy and is making funds available for conversion.

In a report to the council, Kelly explained that the city now owns three separate mechanical heating and air conditioning systems that operate independently of each other.

The main City Hall building, which includes the entry corridor, council chambers and other offices, is serviced by a 22-year old system, which, Kelly stated, needs to be replaced. He said the system does not adequately heat nor cool the council chambers and frequently breaks down.

Two other city offices, the police department and the basement, are serviced by another system, which Kelly said has a life expectancy 12 to 15 years.

And a third system, recently installed, provides heat and cooling to the city manager's office and conference room, plus the planning office. That system, Kelly estimated, should last 18 to 20 years.

Kelly said he and other members of his department analyzed various alternatives to improve the present energy system and determined that a solar energy system would be the most economically and environmentally effective.

"The staff feels," he wrote, "that solar energy systems will more than likely have a much more cost-effective, long-term impact. In use, there are fewer mechanical operations and thus the system will tend to last longer."

Kelly said work on the new system could be divided into several stages, so it could be implemented with technological advances in the future.

It was asserted that if the city's grant application for federal funds is not approved, then no solar energy system would be installed.

John Barnard was the only councilman to oppose the solar energy system.

"No large buildings have been successful in installing a solar energy system to my knowledge, and I'd hate to be the only city to get involved in this," Barnard said.

"I've looked at various (solar) systems and each was different, in fact, they look like mickey-mouse jobs," he added. "I feel the cost of maintaining such a system would be phenomenal."

Freshmen At Oceana

Parents whose children will be incoming freshmen at Oceana High School in Pacifica are urged by school officials to attend a "parents' night" to be held March 10, starting at 7 p.m.

A brief PTA business meeting will begin at 7:30, followed by a presentation of student programs and services by Joseph Conway, principal, and his staff.

Proposal by Teachers

A new contract proposal calling for 3-per-cent salary hikes plus cost-of-living increases of between 6 and 8 per cent has been submitted to trustees of the San Mateo Union High School District by the San Mateo Union High School District Teachers' Association.

A number of additional fringe benefits, including vision care, were submitted to the trustees at their Thursday night meeting at Burlingame High School.

The cost-of-living increase, according to a 53-page document submitted to the board, would be based on figures in the San Francisco Bay Area Consumer Price Index from March 31, 1976 to March 31, 1977.

Claiming "capricious teacher assignments" by the district administration in the past, Julian Cane, president of the teachers' association, said the proposal calls for a drastic limitation on teacher assignments.

"All involuntary transfers of teachers shall be based upon reasonable needs of the district, including but not limited to needs to effect balance in staff among schools, to provide particular course offerings for students, to implement affirmative action programs," he said.

The association demanded that transfers not be used as a means of disciplining teachers and that no involuntary transfer be made until it has been made certain there is not a teacher within the district interested in voluntarily accepting the position.

Among the nonsalary benefits asked are:

- That the California Vision Service Program be added to family health and dental plans already provided.
- That these health plans be extended to retirees.
- That Social Security coverage be provided for summer school teaching.

for workshop assignments and for the adult school.

• That half-year paid sabbatical leaves be provided for teachers with seven subsequent years with the district.

• That a travel allowance of 18 cents a mile be given to teachers requested to transport students in private cars and to teachers who must commute between schools on split assignments.

• That teachers not be assigned classes that require more than three subject preparations without their consent.

• That a "Sick Leave Bank" be established from which teachers who have exhausted sick leaves may draw on when ill. Under that provision, teachers would be able to pay back the sick leave bank, administered by a five-member committee composed of both board representatives and teacher representatives, in subsequent years.

Seven in Race for 3 LSSD Seats

By JANET PARKER
There will be at least two new trustees on the Laguna Salada School District Board of Trustees after the votes are tallied on March 8.

The only incumbent among the seven candidates for three seats in the Pacifica school district is Curtiss Landers.

Also seeking election to the board are Nick Carpenter, Michael Mosness, Ray Hendrix, John Plato, John Straight and Marilyn Wills.

Two trustees whose terms expire in March, Wilbur Frye and Dale Buettgenbach, are not seeking re-election.

NICK CARPENTER

Nick Carpenter, 30, is currently a member of Pacifica's Hillside Review Board and was vice-chairman of the 1976 San Mateo County Revenue Sharing Advisory Council.

The candidate says that he would bring to the board experience in weighing information and making decisions on complex matters as well as experience in purchasing supplies and equipment. He is employed as a construction manager for Joseph Magnin Co. in San Francisco.

Carpenter said he believes Pacifica students are receiving a good education for the dollars spent, compared with other districts with higher budgets.

Over the past few years, good improvements have been made in the district's reading program, Carpenter said. "This emphasis needs to be continued and expanded into the math program."

Some ways to improve educational opportunities, he said, would include:

Improved and increased variety of teaching materials for teachers and students to work with.

Better communication between citizens, parents, teachers, administration and board members.

Increased participation by citizens and parents in school, administrative and board functions.

Expanded use of volunteers in classrooms to increase the number of adults to students.

Expansion of the Early Childhood Education program and Alternative Classes.

Looking ahead to declining enrollment and the financial problems expected in the 1977-78 budget, Carpenter said he wants the district to sell undeveloped sites that are no longer needed and seek more economical insurance coverage.

Educational programs should only be cut as a last resort and then only after careful consideration of each, he said.

Carpenter has been resident and homeowner in Pacifica for five years.

CURTISS LANDERS

Curtiss Landers was appointed to the board one year ago to finish the term of Lee Riewerts who moved from the district. Landers had been serving on the school district's Personnel Commission.

He said at a recent candidate's night that the school board trustee has the most important public service job in town.

In his 10 months on the board, Landers said he has experienced budget sessions and become acquainted with many school issues. When his two colleagues leave the board April 1, the district will be losing 20 years of experience, he said.

"We are going to need as much experience as we can get to make some difficult decisions in the near future," he said.

Landers said he is concerned about obtaining greater community involvement in the district.

Communication between parents and school district personnel must likewise be improved, he said.

"These lines of communication now seem to exist only at some schools," Landers said.

The LSSD is expecting a financial boost in the state's implementation of the Serrano vs. Priest decision. Landers said when — and if — that money does fall into the LSSD coffers, it should primarily be used for reduction of class size by hiring more teachers.

"Reducing those ratios of adults to students, including the classified people, is incredibly important to what happens in the classroom," he said.

Secondly, he said, the money should be used to improve salaries of both certificated and classified personnel.

"Those people need singling out for their outstanding jobs with more money or at least some kind of recognition," Landers said.

MICHAEL MOSNESS

A teacher at Oceana High School in Pacifica for 11 years, Michael Mosness now wants to become involved in the LSSD.

Mosness, 36, has two children. He is a member of the American Federation of Teachers, Bethlehem Lutheran Church, the Jaycees and the Moose Lodge.

Mosness said he is not satisfied with the reading and writing skills of students graduating from LSSD.

"It is unrealistic to expect miracles with a high class size," Mosness said. "Teachers are doing their best now. With a class size of 25, their best will show up much better in skills for students."

Cuts made in support services such as health, guidance, art, music and industrial arts must be restored and brought up to par with richer districts, he said.

"I'm fairly appalled at the number of kids who come into my class that cannot read and write," Mosness said at a candidate's night.

His No. 1 priority, he said, would be to educate students to become "literate, functional adults."

My constituency — if I'm elected — would be the students, the parents, the staff and the administration, in that order," Mosness said.

He also lists as high priorities parent participation in policy decisions of the school board and improvement of teacher and classified staff moral through an equitable contract.

"Community involvement, the alternative programs and individualized instruction are all efforts that should be expanded," he said.

JOHN PLATO

John Plato said he favors a moderate approach to elementary education with emphasis on basic skills such as reading with comprehension, writing clear and complete thoughts and using arithmetic to do everyday computations.

"Elementary education is extremely important for our children, because it provides the basic foundation for later learning," Plato said.

Plato, 36, has three children attending Oddstad School. For the past 12 years, he has been employed in various management positions at Pacific Telephone and currently is responsible for computer systems development.

He is a member of the Pacifica Transportation and Safety Commission and is the current chairman of the LSSD Personnel Commission.

Plato said his primary goals are to:

Continue and reinforce existing reading programs.

Focus attention on the math program to bring test scores above the present level.

Strengthen the 4-6 grade curriculum.

Work closely with the Jefferson Union High School District to assure success in establishing graduation standards mandated by the state.

Establish optional choices to traditional education as funding permits.

Improve the overall image of the LSSD to attract children back into public education.

Press the legislature for effective implementation of the Serrano decision.

JOHN STRAIGHT

John Straight is a librarian employed by the San Francisco Public Library system. He holds a master's degree in Library Science from University of Southern California.

"As the father of a 4-year-old boy, I am vitally concerned with the future of schools in the district and with achieving and maintaining a certain quality level — not only with regard to the educational opportunities for my son, but also his peers," said Straight, 42.

The candidate led a walking tour of the school district to kick-off his campaign and recently held a kite flying festival.

Straight said he wants to be a member of the school board because he believes the schools are a strong influence in the community and, "I want to be aware and involved as possible so that this influence may be positive."

He said he believes student-teacher ratios should be reduced so that no class has more than 30 students.

Special services should remain in the district, he said, as long as there are children with special needs.

He said teacher salaries should be consistent with area-wide averages "in order to maintain that qualitative level that concerns me."

He said he has no objection to using cost-of-living indexes to determine teacher salaries.

Straight said the school board needs input from all levels — the community, administrators and employees.

"I would work toward keeping communications open and ongoing, not merely something to be opened up at either end in the event of a crisis," he said.

Straight served on two parochial school boards in Southern California.

MARILYN WILLS

Marilyn Wills, 35, holds a political science degree from University of California, Los Angeles, and has taught high school, junior high school and pre-school.

Mrs. Fulford objected to the larger cut, stating the job description for the position still includes many responsibilities in the area of parks.

"Parks have not been removed in anyway, shape or form," she said.

In other matters, the council:

• Denied a plea by McDonald's Restaurant representatives for a drive-up window at their restaurant.

• Commended the services of former Planning Commissioner Jim Brush, whose replacement on the commission by the vote of three council members facing a recall campaign stirred up controversy in January.

• Learned that 28 persons responded to a "Were you counted?" advertisement in a local newspaper to determine if a recent citywide census was accurate. Planning Administrator Mac Carpenter said that about five of those who believed they might not have been counted actually were not. Computer cards for those persons have been sent to the state Department of Finance to incorporate into the city's population estimate.

Salary Cut Follows Job Reduction

The salary of Pacifica's director of parks, beaches and recreation has been cut $3,912 — primarily because she no longer directs the first two areas in her title.

The City Council last week voted 3-1, Mayor Janice Fulford dissenting, to reduce the director's monthly salary of $2,217, or $26,604 a year, by 15 per cent.

Mrs. Fulford had proposed a cut of 5 per cent.

During budget sessions last year, the council had removed parks and beaches from the jurisdiction of the director, Ginny Jaquith.

The two areas were transferred to the Department of Community Development, enabling the council to delete the fulltime position of parks superintendent.

Assistant City Manager Don Jeffers pointed out that the director of parks, beaches and recreation supervised 23 fulltime positions. As simply director of recreation, she is in charge of only seven, he said.

The 15 per cent salary cut, Jeffers said, brings the position into line with similar positions throughout the state.

$1 Million May Travel

By JANET PARKER

A $1 million grant to purchase beach property for public ownership may become available to other San Mateo County coastal cities because Pacifica has turned it down.

Assemblyman Louis Papan, D-San Mateo, who introduced the legislation for the City of Pacifica two years ago, said last week he is prepared to introduce legislation to reallocate the money.

"I'm very, very disappointed," Papan said this week after learning that Pacifica had rejected the $1 million.

Leery of certain strings attached to the grant to purchase Pacifica beach land, the City Council voted 2-2 to reject the financial offer Monday night.

The city learned in January that the $1 million still was available for beach acquisition, most likely all or some of the San Pedro Beach property near Linda Mar.

It was a surprise to the council, since it always had been understood that the city must maintain any beach land purchased and incorporated into the state system.

Pacific voters last March turned down for the second time a proposal for a tax increase to provide maintenance. The council thought the $1 million was gone forever.

The two councilmen who voted against taking the $1 million Monday night, Sidney Lorvan and Mark Savage, expressed apprehension about the state's future maintenance demands.

Papan, however, said the state does not expect Pacifica to provide an elaborate maintenance and facility plan for the acquired beach property.

Two councilmen, Nick Gust and Lorvan, attended a recent meeting in Papan's office with state Director of Parks and Recreation Herb Rhodes when the maintenance agreement was discussed, Papan said.

Rhodes told the Pacifica officials that he would not expect the city to increase its level of maintenance over that already provided, Papan said.

Money for minor beach improvements would be available through state or federal grants, Papan said.

Papan's aide, Richard Silver, said Pacifica will have a chance to reconsider its decision.

The assemblyman, Silver said, will not immediately introduce new legislation.

PRAYER To The Holy Spirit

Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the divine gift of forgiveness and forget the wrong that is done to me and who you are in all the instances of my life with me. I in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never wanted to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory.
Amen. Thank you, for your love towards me and my loved ones. Person must pray this 3 consecutive days without asking your wish.
After the 3rd day, your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. M.M.

Chope Citizens Task Force Splits on Services

Members of the Citizens Task Force on County Governmental Operations are agreed that quality health care for San Mateo County's indigent residents is "essential," but they are divided on how best to provide the services.

Task Force members submitted three separate reports to the County Board of Supervisors last week in Redwood City, with recommendations ranging from the closing of Chope Community Hospital, to keeping the hospital open, to consideration of a new approach calling for the creation of a county health trust to deliver health care.

In a report prepared on behalf of herself and three other members of the Task Force, Chairwoman Evelyn Stanton recommended:

- Maintain Chope Hospital as an acute care/surgical facility to serve the entire county.
- Phase out the Fair Oaks Clinic in Redwood City.
- Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center should be utilized for the consolidated operations of the corner/public administrator, in addition to the use of some 140 beds there to return many county care patients who are placed in out-of-county nursing homes to local care.

In another report, Task Force member Howard A. Oliphant urged the board to "support the decentralized health care plan as proposed by County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett."

A third report, delivered by Ralph E. Boynton, another Task Force member, calls for the creation of a county health trust, the integration of Sequoia, Peninsula and Chope hospitals, outpatient and specialized facilities under the trust to contract with the Board of Supervisors for the delivery of health care within the county.

Boynton said creation of the trust would relieve the board of its responsibilities for health care except when contracts were renewed and would allow the board to "spend more time on other county problems while feeling secure that the trust would be a specialized board for a specialized social service that requires increasing amounts of informed specialized attention."

In her report, Mrs. Stanton contended that the projected renovation costs for Chope Hospital are "exorbitantly high" and that "certain accommodations can be made that would preclude spending the millions of dollars that have been estimated to continue the use of the hospital."

She asserted that the 1923 section of the hospital cannot continue to be used for inpatient care and should be converted to house administrative and fiscal functions which are now taking up needed space in the 1956 wing, which conforms to all code and seismic requirements, and should be "devoted exclusively to inpatient care."

Upgrading of the intensive care unit and the psychiatric ward "are essential and should be a top priority in renovation plans," Mrs. Stanton said. She estimated the cost for this at less than $500,000.

The outpatient clinic can continue in its present location with minor improvements that will bring about operational efficiencies, she maintained.

Mrs. Stanton contended that programs now offered at Crystal Springs can be incorporated into the Chope Hospital operation under dual licensing to further improve efficiency and management.

Furthermore, she added, consolidation of the two facilities would bring Crystal Springs patients "into the mainstream of county medical care."

Mrs. Stanton proposed that the pediatric ward at Chope, which is an extremely costly operation based on its low census, should be phased out as soon as practicable through agreements with other hospitals.

In regard to the recommendation for phasing out the Fair Oaks Clinic, focal point of the South County Decentralized Health Care Demonstration Project, Mrs. Stanton stated:

"We acknowledge the desirability of community-based primary care facilities, but we have reluctantly concluded that decentralized health care, as epitomized by this particular system, is neither economical nor equitable in the care of the total county population."

Mrs. Stanton cited the contention of her group that, "One of the deficiencies in decentralization, as proposed, is the lack of control over contractual agreements."

"In an effort to effect economies in county health care, we may well find that in a few years we will be spending a great deal more to obtain considerably less service."

If it should be the decision of the board to keep Chope open and to phase out Fair Oaks Clinic, it would be imperative that accessibility to Chope be provided to all county residents through a transportation network that would be as efficient and economical as possible," Mrs. Stanton said.

She recommended that the board direct long-range planning to determine the feasibility of establishing limited primary care clinics in target areas of the entire county, and such clinics, if established, be administered through the Chope Hospital administrative staff.

In recommending adoption of Pickett's decentralized plan, Oliphant maintained that the plan "has been demonstrated workable and has met the criteria which you established."

Chope Hospital, he contended, "in addition to being a duplication of facilities, is too small to be operated efficiently for the small inpatient load which last week was about 60 beds."

Oliphant cited the premiums of $636,607 and $177,487 the county pays annually for hospital and a portion of its medical staff's malpractice insurance respectively, plus the $228,000 allocated for contracts with two anesthesiologists.

He asserted that to sell the voter-approved 1965 hospital bond measure of $6,275,000 today at a rate of 5 per cent the debt service would be $501,500 a year for 20 years, or 38.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in property taxes over that period.

If the hospital improvement costs are closer to the $11.7 million estimated by Pickett, that the property tax cost would be closer to 75 cents, Oliphant contended.

The demonstration plan demonstrated a potential savings of $1 million a year in operating costs for a decentralized system, he concluded.

Board Chairman John M. Ward revealed that a study of the possibility of creating a joint hospital authority being made by the county's administrative staff.

DA Defends Legal Costs

San Mateo County Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson doesn't like charging school districts in the county for "extraordinary" legal services, but feels he has to do so because of cutbacks in his budget this year.

Sorenson so stated last week at a luncheon meeting in San Mateo between the county Board of Supervisors and representatives of six county school districts.

The meeting was arranged at the request of Austin R. Sellery, superintendent of the San Mateo Union High School District, who noted that the district's board of trustees feels that charges levied by the district attorney's office are both "inappropriate and unreasonable."

Sorenson explained that when his office budget was trimmed by $261,000 for the current fiscal year he directed his staff to recommend ways to make up the lost revenue.

One of the proposals, he said, was to generate $30,000 by charging school districts for "extraordinary" services on a pro rata scale based on average daily attendance.

In the instance of the San Mateo Union High School District, the charge would be $2,917.

If a district doesn't want to participate on a pro rata basis his office will charge $35 an hour for its services, Sorenson said.

About one-half of the school districts in the county have agreed to the charge program, most of them reluctantly, the district attorney reported.

"I much prefer that we don't do it (charge for services)," Sorenson said. "It is distasteful to the districts and difficult to keep accounts."

Sorenson note that his office can't charge for all services, that it is obligated by the county charter to provide legal advice to districts and district officials concerning their responsibilities and duties and to provide written opinions.

Also, the Education Code obligates the district attorney to perform other services, "not necessarily without charge," such as defending districts and officials in law suits, Sorenson said.

David N. Thomas, superintendent of the San Mateo City Elementary School District, expressed the opposition of himself and the district's board of trustees to the legal charges.

"We don't see any reason for change and basically that's our position," he stated.

Thomas noted that SB 90 has placed school districts in the position of having "our backs to the wall." There are inadequate funds for education, he stated, and to get the maximum from available money it is necessary to establish priorities.

It is the reaction of the San Mateo school district that "We're not going to pay," Thomas said.

He drew a laugh when he asked Sorenson if the district attorney's office would "charge us to defend us if we refuse to pay you?"

James Brien, superintendent of the Laguna Salada Union Elementary

School District, commented that he sees "a new game developing among agencies — passing on costs."

He noted that the state's cities got the law changed which previously required cities to provide crossing guard services, making that program optional with school districts.

Gung Hay Fat Choy Finocchio Theme

The spectacular FINOCCHIO EVETTES are currently being featured in festive Oriental costumes and routines, just in time to celebrate the Chinese New Year. With gold and silver fans fluttering, the six Evettes enrapture audiences in the "Oriental Fantasy" production. Many other talented performers join the Evettes in four shows nightly, except Mondays and Thursdays. "Beautiful girls, those boys!"... First-time patrons at LEHR'S GREENHOUSE Garden restaurant in San Francisco are always delightfully astonished at the modest prices. Dinners start at just $5.25 with Lehr's famous gourmet salad bar included in the price. And the dinner menu lists such gourmet-worthy items as scampi and roast rack of baby lamb... GEORGE LIBERACE and his magic violin play a one-nighter, Sunday, Feb. 27, with MAURY WOLOHAN'S ORCHESTRA at California Hall in San Francisco. George will be available for introductions and autographs during the intermission... After a Monday off in honor of Washington's Birthday, the hard-working crew at MEL CICERO and HARRY CURUSIS'S BAYHILL LOUNGE in San Bruno is back to the business of serving lunch (11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday) and providing live music for dancing. In the spotlight from 9 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays is the sensational TRI SOUNDS group... Be sure to order the Super Special Dinner at YOLANDA'S TERMINAL CAFE in South San Francisco. Served family-style, the Roast Sirloin of Beef dinner is complete with soup, salad, pasta, two vegetables and French bread.

Rick Fournier New Director of Sales

RICK FOURNIER has been named director of sales at the SAN FRANCISCO AIRPORT HILTON, where a beautiful new Conference Center was recently completed as part of a $4 million expansion project. Fournier is one of the youngest sales directors in the Hilton Hotels Corporation. Prior to his coming to the Peninsula, Fournier was on the sales staff of the Beverly Hilton. ENRICO ROMANO is looking for a big restaurant invasion at his Rockaway Beach ROMANO'S restaurant this weekend. Pizza to go and Italian dinners should make the cash register bells sound like an early return of Santa and his reindeer... BARNEY'S CASINO and the SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET are ready, willing and waiting for the weekend action. Both clubs serve food and cocktails round-the-clock... AMIGO MIKE'S Mexican restaurant, located in the sprawling TANFORAN PARK SHOPPING CENTER, San Bruno, is one of nine GARDEN RESTAURANTS honoring the 50 cents discount coupon, which is found in today's "Bright Lights." Zesty Mexican combination plates and a la carte items are available. With prices already being reasonable, the 50 cents off on a purchase over one dollar is just an additional bonus for wise diners. This coupon is valid after 4 p.m. during the week... It is best to call ahead for reservations when planning dinner at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S in Redwood City. The Baby Back Pork Ribs and Prime Ribs of Beef are a winning nightly Exacta — and you can bet on it.

Enjoy Pre-Theater Dinner, Phil Lehr's

PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-The-Ounce Steakery, in the heart of San Francisco's theater district, is a popular pre-theater dinner stop for theatergoers. It is located on the lower level of the Hilton Tower, Taylor Street entrance, so it is just a short, pleasant walk to the nearby Curran, Geary and Marines Memorial Theaters... Parking lot tycoon EDDIE PISANI, a steady diner at VINCE'S ITALIAN AND SEAFOOD restaurant for many of his 81 years, says "Vince's Special is one of my specials, too..." Try the Combination Steak and Prawns for dinner some night at MARTINELLI'S STEAK PIT in Millbrae. Included is a choice of soup or salad, vegetable, potatoes du jour or spaghetti... Gallina en Salsa de Mole is not the name of a Spanish bullfighter but one of the many house specialties at LA PINATA, a popular Mexican restaurant in downtown Burlingame. Yep, refried beans and rice are included... JOSEPH GREENBACH, general manager of the VILLA HOTEL, says last year was a banner one for special parties and conventions at the San Mateo vacation spa. Judging by advanced bookings in 1977, another record is about to be broken... A vista view of the Pacific Ocean is just one of the many reasons why Bay Areas and visitors alike seek out NICK GUST'S three Rockaway Beach restaurants, CAPTAIN CHARLES, THE MOONRAKER and NICK'S, for dining out. An illuminated beachfront during the after-dark hours is another romantic touch. Ample parking at the shoreline for before and after-dinner reflecting... It is not too early to begin thinking about attending the St. Patrick's Day celebration at the BIT OF ENGLAND, Burlingame. The festive occasion, with a free corned beef and cabbage feast cited as the major enticement, is slated to be one of the busiest days of the year for CHARLIE McFADDEN and his crew...

Hiring Freeze Set in County

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors last week approved the recommendations of County Manager David L. Nichols for a hiring freeze and deferment of significant purchases of equipment and capital improvement projects which he says will avert a projected $518,000 deficit in the current county budget.

The action came amid warnings that the fiscal situation is going to worsen next year, with the possibility of layoffs and a voluntary reduction in the employee work week.

Nichols said that there presently are about 200 vacant employee positions which will not be filled, although the board's action gives him the discretion to make exceptions to the freeze if he feels it is necessary.

Nichols was directed to submit a follow-up fiscal report in 30 days, including his recommendations for equipment purchases and capital improvement projects to be deferred.

The manager said the budget is going to be subjected to a continuous monitoring process.

Referring to the $1 million "overlap" in county employee merit, or automatic step, increases which were not calculated in the 1976-77 county budget, Supervisor Edward J. Bacciochio Jr. commented:

"This was an albatross Mr. Nichols didn't put around his own neck. Someone else did it for him."

Bacciochio asked why, when the increases are considered automatic, they were not anticipated in the budget.

Nichols said it was his understanding the lapse occurred when the county switched from the manual calculations of salaries to an automated procedure, and the merit increases were left out.

Nichols warned that the budget situation is a "compounding problem" which will extend into next year.

Supervisor William H. Royer suggested that the county investigate the alternative of a program for county employees to take voluntary time off.

"If we can explore this, discuss it with the unions, or if employees want to do it on their own, we should pick it up," Royer stated.
